WORLD FLIERS SNATCH REST IN GERMANY FOR NEXT HOP, TO MOSCOW

Gatty and Post Mobbed by Friendly Crowd at Templehof.

FORMER GETS LOST IN MILLING THRONGS

Aviators Report Near Steady Rain Pelted Them on Atlantic Crossing.

Berlin, June 24 (A.P.).—Harold Gatty and Wiley Post, "just passing through" on a round-the-world flight, turned in tonight for a few hours sleep, storing up enough energy to carry them to Moscow in the morning.

They dropped out of the moonlight onto Tempelhof Airfield at 8:30 p. m. (2:30 p. m. E. S. T.), after streaking across the Atlantic from Harbor Grace through weather that was bad almost all the way.

Berlin had been waiting for them for hours, and tired as they were they could not escape the most vociferous welcome the city has given any one in years.

Gatty Shouldered Into Mob.

So enthusiastic was the crowd and so complicated were the police precautions to protect the fliers that Gatty got himself tangled up with the hero worshippers and was almost shouldered off the field by guards herding newspapermen and others away from the plane. Only the intervention of an air line official saved him.

When the wheels of the blue and white Winnie Mae touched the ground the crowd sent up a roaring cheer. A truck took it in tow and hauled it over to a place where the movie cameras and microphones had been set up. The delay there was so long that the impatient crowd broke through the police lines and stampeded onto the field.

A pair of policemen spotted Post immediately and hoisted him to their shoulders. Gatty, a tired little fellow in a brown business suit, they did not even recognize. He was shoved back into the crowd.

"Where's your partner? Where's Gatty?" the crowd milling around Post shouted.

Flier Rescued From Oblivion.

But Post was dog-tired. He hadn't even enough energy left to make himself heard above the shouts.

A few yards away the little man in the brown suit remonstrated weakly with the burly Berlin policemen who kept shoving him backward.

"Give them room! Get back!" they shouted, paying no attention to what he had to say.

"Wait a minute!" cried an official of the Furthansa Airways. "That's one of the fliers! That's Gatty!"

With that, the laughing crowd hoisted Gatty on their shoulders also and elbowed a way in Post's wake to the airport terrace, where a bottle of champagne and glasses were laid out.

"Good weather? It was terrible!" Post said when he had caught his breath. "Maybe we had as much as three hours of good weather. It rained on us practically all night; but, boy, we got through."

Lost Bearings Over Hanover.

It took the fliers more than 24 hours to get from Harbor Grace to Berlin, and only 26 hours and 18 minutes to cross the Atlantic from Newfoundland to a British Air Force landing field near Chester, England, where they stopped long enough to snatch a bite to eat and take aboard more fuel. Then they flew on to Hanover, Germany.

"What did you land there for, so close to Berlin?" somebody asked Gatty after things had quieted down here.

"We didn't have any maps, you know, showing where Berlin is. All our maps showed was France and Holland and part of western Germany. We had lost our bearings, anyhow, by the time we got over Hanover."

Post wasn't very enthusiastic about champagne, and he looked pretty foolish when somebody came upon him from behind and thrust a huge bunch of flowers into the arms weary from the all night and all day strain of piloting the Winnie Mae.

"Gosh," he said, "where can I wash?"

Radio Found Unneeded.

But it wasn't time for that yet. A radio man dashed up with a microphone and tried to get the fliers to talk. It was practically impossible.

"Go on, say something. New York's listening to you," the radio man said.

Gatty grunted and Post grinned.

"Hello, Germany," said Post, putting his face close to the microphone. Then half a hundred cameramen began shooting off their flashlights as the radio man asked questions about the flight.

"Why didn't you use your radio?" asked the interviewer.

"Didn't have to," said Post.

"Are you satisfied with the trip so far?"

"Humph," came in unison from both fliers.

That didn't last long and somebody led the two tired men into the airport office while the crowd outside kept shouting, "Hoch, Kolossal!"

Hard-Earned Meal Eaten.

Post and Gatty stretched out for a moment's peace, but it was only a moment, the telephone rang.

"Somebody from New York," said one of the airport officials. "A fellow

Great Welcome Ready In Denmark for Fliers

Otto Hillig (left) and Holgar Hoirlis, now winging their way to Denmark in the plane Liberty. Hillig, an immigrant to America, is realizing his dream to fly back to the old country.

Hillig and Hoiriis Due at Copenhagen at 7:30 A. M. Today.

Copenhagen, June 24 (A.P.).—All Denmark, newly air-minded, focused its attention tonight on the Copenhagen Airport, waiting for Otto Hillig and Holger Hoirlis, streaking across the Atlantic from Newfoundland in the first flight ever attempted between America and Denmark.

They were not due until morning, but the Danish navy had a squadron of seaplanes "on the line" ready to take off at short notice and escort the visitors to a landing.

This afternoon the national and municipal governments polished off their reception plans. The first to greet the fliers will be Mrs. Hoirlis and her daughter. Friis Skotte, Danish minister of communications, will

WHITNEY LAYS SLUMP BLAME ON CONSUMER

Ability to Foresee Halt in Buying Regarded as Vital Factor.

PRODUCTION HELD WELL CONTROLLED

Bank Failures Attributed to Causes Other Than Trade Setback.

New York, June 24 (A.P.).—Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, suggests as a means of preventing periods of depression more scientific knowledge about a compartive stranger, the consumer.

In his annual report to the governing committee of the exchange, published today, Mr. Whitney traces in detail the course of the business cycle down to its current low levels and discusses various theories that have been advanced.

"On the whole," he concluded, "consumption rather than prdouction seems to constitute the greater threat against the stability of business." He points out that production is a mechanical problem, and great strides have been made toward its scientific control, but adds, "by compairson, consumption statistics are scanty, incomplete and problematic as to their true significance."

"The trends of consumption are themselves largely unpredictable and constantly subject to the changing whims of fashion. If any fundamental progress in stabilizing the fluctuations of business is actually to be realized a more complete and accurate knowledge of consumption seems indispensable."

Bank Failures Are Cited.

Mr. Whitney points to banking insolvencies as a serious aggravating factor in the last year and states that extensive suspensions over several years indicate clearly that they have been due to causes more basic than temporary swings of the business cycle.

Investigations of this situation he regards as an indispensable preliminary step toward improvement.

He points to the insolvency record of the stock exchange membership during 1930 as gratifying. There were six insolvencies, or 0.44 of 1 per cent of the total membership by contract. Suspensions among banks in 1930 amounted to 3.88 per cent of those existing on June 30, 1930. In contrast to other troubled years, the stock market's 0.44 per cent for 1930 compared with 0.81 per cent in 1922, 0.90 per cent for 1914 and 0.81 per cent for 1908.

"When the violence and duration of security liquidation through the year is recalled," the report says, "this showing by stock exchange firms becomes a cause for distinct gratification."

Public Part of Wall Street.

Speaking of progress made by the exchange in its public relations, Mr. Whitney pointed to the more skeptical attitude toward financial practices manifested in a period of depression, but added, "public discussions, even of such controversial subjects as short selling, have always been characterized by an attitude of open-minded and serious inquiry rather than uninformed prejudice or abuse for its own sake."

"The public has itself become a part of Wall street since the war," he

MELLON IS ORDERED TO PARIS TO WIN FRANCE AS ITALY AND BRITAIN WELCOME DEBT DELAY

Compromise Is Urged by Laval in Interest of Perfect Accord.

YOUNG PLAN BREAK STRONGLY OPPOSED

Deputies Will Take Action on Moratorium Plan Tomorrow.

Paris, June 24 (A.P.).—France replied today to President Hoover's war debt proposal by virtually addressing an appeal to the United States for a compromise in the interests of perfect accord.

The suggested compromise, the Associated Press was informed, deals with the issue of unconditional reparations payments from Germany, in which France receives about $100,000,000 annually.

Instead of postponing these payments in line with the Hoover suggestion that all intergovernmental debts be held in abeyance for a year, France wants them made as usual to the Bank for International Settlements. Then, under the French counterplan, they would be made available to Germany and to other needy nations in the form of loans.

Would Keep Young Plan Intact.

This arrangement would keep intact the Young plan, which the French regard as a citadel of protection.

The reply to President Hoover's suggestion was handed to United States Ambassador Walter E. Edge by Premier Laval today, and at the same time a copy was sent the French Ambassador in Washington for presentation to the American Government.

The text, the premier said, will not be made public until Friday, when the Chamber of Deputies, which must approve whatever action the cabinet takes, debates on the Hoover plan.

In government circles it was said the French counterplan would mean that, although Germany would continue formal payments of the unconditional portion of reparations, in point of fact she would be paying out nothing, since the money would be returned to her.

Hoover Plan Paid Tribute.

In her reply to the United States, France, it is understood, pays tribute to the importance of the Hoover offer and gives assurances of her desire to collaborate in a wise and durable solution of the present pressing international problems.

The reply emphasizes the difficulty any French government would have in approving an alteration of the Young plan without the authority of the French Parliament.

In well-informed quarters it was said tonight the French answer, which was drawn up after some difficulty, was the only kind of reply the government could make.

The contention is advanced that no world problem of such gigantic nature could be expected to be dealt with until there has been discussion of the details involved.

Tripartite Pact Sought.

The French consider the counter-proposal enlarges the scope of the Hoover plan by suggesting cooperation not only to save Germany, but to assist in the reconstruction of other countries, including Austria. It is argued that other countries must

British and Italian Terms Of Supporting Hoover Plan

The Department of State last night issued the following statement:

ITALY—The Italian acceptance of the proposal of President Hoover for total suspension of payment of intergovernmental debts for one year is cordial and complete, without any reservation of a political nature, the American Ambassador to Italy, Mr. John Work Garrett, was informed by the Italian government tonight. Ambassador Garrett reported to the department that he was further informed by the Italian government that Italy's adhesion is in accordance with the terms of the British acceptance and entirely similar to that which it understood Great Britain had made; furthermore, that the Italian acceptance is not subordinated to any political reservations. The reference in Premier Mussolini's telegram to the Italian Ambassador, which was given to the press in Italy and at the Italian Embassy today, reserving the right to make some "observations" regarding the application of President Hoover's proposal was stated by the spokesman for the Italian government to relate to questions of detail in the methods of carrying out the project.

GREAT BRITAIN—The Secretary of State tonight received the following report from the British Ambassador of a statement made today in the House of Commons by the chancellor of the exchequer:

"As my right honorable friend the prime minister informed the House on June 22, 'his majesty's government in the United Kingdom subscribe whole-heartedly to the principle of President Hoover's proposal and are prepared to cooperate in the elaboration of the details with a view to giving it practical effect without delay.' With the permission of the House I should like to take this op-

FRENCH REPLY KEPT SECRET BY HOOVER

President, Stimson and Mills Confer for Three Hours After Answer.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

The American proposal for a one-year holiday on international debts and reparations brought a whirl of developments last night, among which were these:

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon was directed by President Hoover to proceed from London to Paris, and there confer with French government officials in an attempt to work out an agreement.

France's reply to America's proposal was delivered at the State Department by Ambassador Claudel, after which President Hoover, Secretary of State Stimson and Undersecretary of the Treasury Mills held a three-hour conference at the White House. News of Secretary Mellon being directed to Paris followed this conference.

The State Department made public a statement announcing that the Italian government had notified the American Ambassador, John Work Garrett, that it accepted the Hoover proposal whole-heartedly and completely, "without any reservation of a political nature." An earlier statement said that Premier Mussolini later would have some "observations" to make, and it was feared these observations would be in the nature of reservations. Last night's assurances from Rome dissipated such fears.

Britain Extends Proposal.

The State Department also made public the report of a speech by Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden in the House of Commons yesterday. Snowden announced that in order to assure success of President Hoover's plan the United Kingdom stood ready to forgive for one year, not only the debts of foreign nations, but those of her dominions and India, even though these latter might not have been embraced in the American proposal.

Chancellor Snowden said the loss to the British budget for one year by agreement to the American proposal would reach approximately eleven millions pounds, but he expressed the opinion that this sacrifice would help revive "confidence and prosperity."

Following a conference at the White House between President Hoover and Eugene Meyer, head of the Federal Reserve Board, it became known that the Federal Reserve Board would act with the Bank of England, the Bank of France and the Bank of International Settlements at Basle, Switzerland, in extending a credit of $100,000,000 to the German Reichsbank, each bank to advance $25,000,000.

Designed for Immediate Relief.

This credit is designed to help Germany hurdle the present financial crisis in which she finds herself, and to enable her to meet payments that fall due at the end of June.

The American credit will be handled through the New York Federal Reserve Bank.

The French Embassy yesterday asked the State Department that France's reply not be made public here until it is submitted to the French Chamber of Deputies tomorrow.

From Paris, however, came press dispatches, evidently authoritative, to the effect that France accepts President Hoover's proposal in principle, but counters with a suggestion that Germany be required to make good on the unconditional payments which she obligated herself to pay France under the Young reparations plan. These unconditional payments, which France regards as nonpostponable, are in excess of $100,000,000.

Early yesterday Secretary Stimson made a statement which, in some quarters, was regarded as disapproval of any such plan. However, it was regarded in other quarters as leaving the door open for the working out of a plan that would be acceptable to France and to all countries involved.

Stimson Is "Very Optimistic."

"The President's proposal," Secretary Stimson said, "was drawn on

ITALY ACCEPTS DEBT PLAN IN PRINCIPLE

Mussolini Gives Moratorium Offer Cordial Approval; To File Observations.

Rome, June 24 (A.P.).—Italy's Ambassador at Washington has been instructed to inform Secretary of State Stimson that Premier Mussolini's government accepts the principle of President Hoover's moratorium plan, but reserves the privilege of filing certain "observations" regarding its application.

Although the acceptance is unconditional, the Italian attitude remains opposed to any objectionable international political activity as a result of a moratorium.

"This proposal means an appreciable sacrifice for Italy," the premier said in a telegram to his ambassador, "but I have decided to give it my cordial acceptance in principle, and later I will take the liberty of sending the American Government some of my observations intended for an application both equitable and practicable."

The premier's telegram said he had examined Mr. Hoover's proposal in detail, and he regarded it as a "happy initiative by the American Government."

"I hope," the message said, "that the initiative of President Hoover, the high significance of which is perfectly understood by the Italian people, will open a period of more efficacious collaboration among the nations, a collaboration so necessary at this moment of general difficulty and on the eve of the disarmament conference."

Douthitt's Illness Postpones Hearing

Contempt Case in Failure to Obey Summons Is Set for July 2.

Justice Peyton Gordon yesterday agreed to further postponement until July 2 of the date on which Harry N. Douthitt must appear before him on contempt charges for failure to answer a grand jury summons.

Assistant United States Attorney William H. Collins told Justice Gordon agents of the Department of Justice had visited Douthitt in Philadelphia and had agreed that his condition was such that a trip here now would be inadvisable.

Douthitt is still suffering from a beating administered to him several weeks ago in his apartment at the Portner Apartments. He is being sought for questioning by the grand jury because of an interview he gave out while he was a patient at Casualty Hospital. In that interview, which later he denied in part, he is said to have told a reporter that at least one police precinct here had a monthly "ice bill."

DOMINIONS GRANTED 1-YEAR MORATORIUM

Britain Puts Hoover Offer Into Practice as Leaders Laud U. S. Effort.

London, June 24 (A.P.).—Great Britain today granted a one-year moratorium to the dominions for their war debts to the United Kingdom, thereby complying with what Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden told the House of Commons was "the spirit as well as the letter" of President Hoover's debts proposal. This action of the British government will cost the already heavily taxed British budget about £11,000,000 (about $55,000,000).

"This is a serious sacrifice for the taxpayers of this country, following on the heavy calls which have been made on them," Mr. Snowden said in his address in the house.

"But we hope that the steps we have taken in cooperation with the United States will be more than justified by the help given in reviving confidence and prosperity."

After the initial uneasiness as to the nature of the French reply to the Hoover proposition, the information was spread here that it embodied approval of the moratorium proposal, with provisions for maintenance of the Young plan. It was expected by observers here that Belgium would associate herself with the French stand.

The effect of this information from Paris was to send the stock market upward again after a dull opening. While Monday's highs were not reached again, there were substantial gains over yesterday's reaction.

Prices on the Paris bourse in some instances even surpassed Monday's highs, and the Berlin boerse was firm.

Chancellor Snowden's address in the House of Commons was in reply to a question of Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, as to what practical methods Great Britain was taking to put the Hoover proposals into effect.

The speech began with a statement that the more consideration given to Mr. Hoover's proposition the more it seemed that the declaration "constituted a very great gesture on the part of the United States."

"It would be a thousand pities if Europe does not respond to it in the same spirit," Mr. Snowden said. The chancellor asserted the time was too short for an international conference on the matter, and quick action by each nation was necessary.

"The procedure we favor," he added, "is that the creditor nations should forthwith notify the Bank of International Settlements that they agree to the proposal for suspension during one year of all German payments due to them."

Cheers greeted Snowden's announcement that, while Great Britain did

2 MORE AIRPLANES POISED FOR SEA HOP

Hungarians Announce Plans for Take-Off for Budapest Today.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., June 24 (A.P.).—Another crew of aviators, Capt. George Endress and Sandor Magyar, Hungarian fliers, was poised here tonight for a transatlantic flight.

They plan to take off at dawn tomorrow for a nonstop journey to Budapest in their Lockheed. They consulted Dr. James Kimball, head of the New York Weather Bureau, today and were told flying weather is favorable.

The Hungarians' plane, painted white, is called the Justice for Hungary. It is powered with a 425-horsepower Wasp motor, carries 900 gallons of gasoline and can develop a top speed of 180 miles an houor.

The fliers arrived here from Detroit May 18. They said their flight to the homeland will be in the nature of a "protest against injustice to Hungary."

New York, June 24 (A.P.).—Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon will take off Saturday morning, weather permitting, on a stern chase after Wiley Post and Harold Gatty in quest of a new record around the world.

Overhauling of their engine was completed today at Hartford, their representatives here announced, and the plane will be flown to Roosevelt Field tomorrow.

Pangborn and Herndon hope to fly nonstop from New York to Moscow. They will not follow the Great Circle course, but will fly due east about 1,400 miles from New York and then turn northeastward toward the French coast. In this way they will

U.S. GAINS CRUISERS BY RECAPITULATION

Figures Given League by Stimson May Lead to Warm Discussion.

By J. B. McDONNELL.

The United States is one and possibly two modern light cruisers better than it was estimated she would be under provisions of the London treaty for limitation of naval armaments.

This is disclosed by analysis of figures transmitted by Secretary of State Stimson to the League of Nations, in response to a request, preliminary to the forthcoming international disarmament conference.

Realization that the United States can construct one and possibly two more cruisers of the eight-inch gun class than it was expected she would be able to build under provisions of the London treaty, doubtless will come as a shock to various foreign powers, although how much fuss will be raised will depend chiefly on what has been done by other navies. The latter, however, certainly have not been idle since Germany launched her "vest pocket" warship, which is more powerful within its tonnage limitation than had been thought practicable.

On the whole, the figures given the league by Secretary Stimson list the American Navy at considerably greater tonnage than when the London pact was signed. The new calculation, it is expected, is based on changes made in American warships.

Under the pact, each signatory nation is limited to a maximum tonnage. In ships built or contemplated, the United States does not exceed treaty limitations. Its increase in the Car Racing Youth Dies As Motor Hits Culvert

Rescuers Unable to Drag Body of Lawrence Creamer, of Potomac, Md., From Machine Which Burst Into Flames After Crash.

Lawrence Creamer, 23 years old, of Potomac, Md., who was to be married next week, was instantly killed last night when the automobile he was driving struck a culvert on the Great Falls-Potomac road near his home.

The machine burst into flames immediately after the crash, and the intense heat forced rescuers to abandon their efforts to pull the young man's body from the wreckage. He was burned beyond recognition.

Persons who witnessed the accident declared that Creamer had been driving his car at a high rate of speed along the road for several hours. Other machines would join him in racing over a straight stretch of the highway about a half-mile from Potomac, they said, and it was in one of these races that the fatal crash occurred.

The youth apparently lost control of his machine, which ran from the road about 50 feet from the culvert. His efforts to bring the car back on the road were futile, and he struck the culvert head-on. The force of the impact drove the engine halfway into the machine, pinning Creamer against the front seat.

Fred Doering, a District postman, who lives nearby, rushed to the scene and attempted to drag the youth from the flaming wreckage with a garden hoe. For several minutes he tried unsuccessfully to hook the youth's clothes to the end of the implement, but as the blaze increased and it became apparent the gasoline tank would explode was forced to abandon his efforts.

A call was sent for the ambulance of Warner E. Pumphrey, Rockville, Md., and the young man's body was taken from the demolished machine and removed to the Pumphrey undertaking establishment.

Young Creamer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Creamer, planned to marry Miss Dorothy Windsor, also of Potomac, next week. The exact day for the wedding had not been set, but preparations for the event were under way.

The youth's father has been in ill health for some time, and both he and Mrs. Creamer were prostrated with grief when told of the accident last night.

Besides his parents, young Creamer is survived by two brothers and two sisters.

Following the accident, Montgomery County police began a search for the driver of the automobile which was said to have been racing with Creamer's machine.

Pitts Carries Appeal Bond Battle to Supreme Court

Justice Butler Consents to Hear Convicted Banker's Plea for Freedom Saturday Morning at Summer Home in Pennsylvania Mountains.

Counsel for G. Bryan Pitts, former head of the F. H. Smith Co., yesterday took his fight for bail, pending appeal from conviction, before the highest court in the land.

Justice Pierce Butler, of the United States Supreme Court, consented to hear Pitts' attorneys and Government counsel at his summer home at Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., Saturday morning at 11 o'clock.

Pitts, convicted in the District Supreme Court last December on charges of conspiring to embezzle funds and destroy incriminating records of the F. H. Smith Co., is now under sentence of fourteen years.

Last Thursday the District Court of Appeals denied a motion for freedom under bond, pending appeal from the sentence.

Attorneys Wilton J. Lambert, Dozier A. DeVane and Leon Tobriner sought a hearing on the motion before the United States Supreme Court.

By the Court of Appeals ruling Pitts was placed in the unique position of having permission to post a $100,000 bond, while at the same time he was denied the right to go free under the bond.

Chief Justice A. A. Wheat, of the District Supreme Court, gave him the right to post the bond after one of

New Vatican Crisis Caused By Italy's Unbending Note

Pope Holds Reply to Demand for More Satisfactory Expression of Regret for Fascist Outrages Is Insufficient; Diplomatic Break Looms.

Rome, June 24 (U.P.).—Italy's sternly worded note to the Holy See today, flatly refusing to deplore recent antipapal demonstrations by Fascist students as demanded by the Pope, created the most serious situation yet precipitated in the extended quarrel with the Vatican. The quarrel resulted from charges that Catholic clubs were participating in antigovernment activities.

Pope Pius, in a public pronouncement, made it clear that the Italian reply was not satisfactory. It was believed an impasse was at hand which might lead to a diplomatic break resembling, in some ways, the former Italo-Vatican controversy which, for three score years, was known as "the Roman question."

It was indicated at the Vatican that hope of obtaining satisfaction through diplomatic channels had been virtually abandoned. There was considerable fear that violence might be renewed.

Reports were current that the Pope would denounce the concordat with Italy, but these were discounted. It was believed, however, that the nuncio to Italy might be recalled. There was wide speculation on the possibility that the Pope—whose sovereignty was restored under the Lateran treaty with Italy—would re-broad, simple outlines. The object was very clear, viz., to secure a postponement for one year of the burden of debt payments. Those outlines will not be departed from.

"We are making substantial headway, but on such a subject involving so many different debts and nations there are necessarily many details which must be filled in after careful study and conversations with those nations. These conversations necessarily must be carried on in the regular way through diplomatic channels and not through the press."

Leaving the White House as darkness was falling last night, Secretary Stimson said:

"I am very optimistic. It would be a crime if anything happened to this."

Then he said that the conversations and negotiations which he had mentioned earlier were already in progress. However, he said, these might take considerable time.

Whatever the American attitude toward the French reply, it is expected that Secretary Mellon will go to Paris, armed with some strong arguments to bring the French into an agreement.

It is entirely possible that suggestions he might make in Paris today will be echoed in the debate on the Hoover proposal, which is scheduled to take place in the Chamber of Deputies tomorrow.

Diplomatic Strategy Seen.

The State Department announcement last night, in which it was made known that Italy and Great Britain were ready to support the Hoover plan whole-heartedly, was regarded as a gentle but nevertheless powerful bit of pressure to bring France to the point of a satisfactory agreement.

The speech of Chancellof of the Exchequer Snowden in the House of Commons was delivered at the State Department by Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British Ambassador here, and later was taken to the White House by Undersecretary of State William Castle. There it was read by President Hoover, Secretary Stimson and Undersecretary of the Treasury Mills.

The Snowden speech, together with the assurances from the Italian government that there would be no political reservations to Italian acceptance of the one-year plan, evidently did much to hearten the President and his advisers.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, Republican leader of the Senate, called on President Hoover yesterday, and afterward said that the situation with regard to the President's proposal "looks favorable."

Watson Claims Progress.

"Very satisfactory progress is being made in the negotiations," he said. "At the present time it looks like, after some of the details are ironed out and some of the obstacles are overcome, success will attend the President's efforts."

Questioned about reports that France might offer a counter-proposal, Senator Watson said it looked to him like the President's proposal was an "open-and-shut proposition."

eH insisted that the proposal was not a partisan political matter, but a national and international matter, one designed to help Germany out of its present financial plight, and thereby help the world.

There has been speculation over the possibility that the close standing of the Republicans and the Democrats in the next House might hold up the selection of a speaker and consequently hold up congresisonal approval of President Hoover's plan.

Senator Watson pointed out yesterday that both Republicans and Democrats appear to be in favor of the President's plan. Therefore, he suggested, why would it not be possible for them to get together, appoint a Speaker pro-tem and bring about approval of the President's proposal.

Suspected Rumrunners Shoot, Escape in Smoke

A suspected liquor car escaped Mount Rainier police last night after turning on a smoke-screen and shooting once at Chief Eugene Plumer, who chased the machine six blocks through the town.

Chief Plumer said he noticed the car being driven recklessly as it passed the firehouse, coming into the town by way of Brentwood. He started in pursuit and was overtaking the machine when the smoke-screen was opened and the occupants fired once. The car escaped into the District by Bunker Hill road. Chief Plumer said it was apparently heavily loaded. A lookout was sent to radio-equipped police automobiles.

The association opened its convention Tuesday with an attendance of 400 persons and will close today with a trip to Mount Vernon for members of the association and their families.

GEORGETOWN NAMES DR. MORGAN REGENT

New Member of Board Will Continue With Duties as Professor.

Dr. William Gerry Morgan, professor at Georgetown University School of Medicine continuously for the last 27 years, was elevated yesterday to the board of regents, highest administrative and advisory group connected with the university.

Last year Dr. Morgan assumed presidency of the American Medical Association, a position he is soon to relinquish to his successor, Dr. E. H. Cary, of Dallas, Tex., recently elected. In 32 years of active practice in Washington, Dr. Morgan has attained national fame as a specialist in the diseases of the digestive tracts, a subject he began teaching as an associate professor at Georgetown in 1904.

The Rev. W. Coleman Nevils, S. J., president of Georgetown, announced that the distinguished physician would continue as an active member of the medical faculty along with his new duties as regent. His appointment on the board was made to fill one of three vacancies, the last of which was caused by the recent death of Dr. George M. Kober, former dean and later dean emeritus of the medical school.

No change is contemplated in the present regency of the medical school, which has been filled the last two years by the Rev. John L. Gipprich, S. J. Dr. Morgan's wide experience in the affairs of the medical department and his rare ability in his profession, however, will be available to the university in an advisory capacity.

A graduate of Dartmouth College and the medical school of the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Morgan came to Washington in 1899. Five years later he joined the Georgetown faculty and in 1911 was made a full professor of gastro-enterology. Last year both Georgetown and Pennsylvania conferred upon him the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Dr. Morgan has been president of several important medical and scientific bodies of the country. These include the American Congress on Internal Medicine, the American Gastro-Enterological Association, the Clinico-Pathological Society and the District of Columbia Medical Society.

He has also been actively associated with the American College of Physicians, of which he is a fellow, the American Therapeutic Association, the Virginia Medical Society, the Southern Medical Society, the American Archeological Association, the Association of Military Surgeons, the Medical Veterans of the World War, the Washington Historical Society, the Washington Academy of Sciences and Psi Upsilon Fraternity.

DOMINIONS GRANTED 1-YEAR MORATORIUM

not regard the Hoover proposals as directly affecting India and the dominion governments, it had been decided to grant them the same concession as granted other nations.

In reply, Mr. Baldwin thanked the chancellor and said he and his fellow conservatives believed the course taken to be fully consistent with the dignity and reputation of the country.

David Lloyd Georfe, Liberal leader, then said: "I am very glad that the government has given so complete, courageous and unequivocal an answer to the very noble gesture of the United States."

be affected if the Hoover plan is to be successful.

The impression exists in Paris that Chancellor Bruening, of Germany, would like to follow up his Chequers conversations with a conference in Paris with Premier Laval and Foreign Minister Briand.

This is based on the theory that the Germans believe the German-English understanding should merge into a tripartite understanding if Germany and France are really to cooperate.

If the Franco-American negotiations proceed the way France wants them to go, it is believed likely the German chancellor will be invited to Paris.

Young Plan Change Opposed.

The foreign relations committee of the Chamber of Deputies discussed the Hoover proposal this afternoon. No vote was taken, but it was agreed the committee could not support any act of the government authorizing change in the unconditional portion of the Young plan.

Members of the committee expressed surprise that President Hoover did not follow traditional diplomatic procedure in working out his plan by consulting the most interested countries.

Conservatives and moderates are reported to have been vehement in their protestations against interference with the Young plan. Deputy Loucher proposed that France should have a voice in how the money Germany normally would pay France would be spent.

Curtiss Widow Wins Suit Against Estate

Miami, Fla., June 24 (A.P.).—Mrs. Lena R. Curtiss, widow of Glenn H. Curtiss, was allowed a claim of $944,647.27 against the estate of the late airplane developer at a hearing before Judge W. F. Blanton in probate court here today. Mr. Curtiss died last July and left holdings, exclusive of real estate, of $2,667,268, a report filed here recently showed.

An affidavit filed with Mrs. Curtiss' claim said it was based on the fact that her husband, acting as her agent, invested large sums of money for her from 1921 to 1930 and that he also had borrowed certain moneys from her.

British Fliers Complete Warsaw-London Hop

Croydon, England, June 24 (A.P.).—The British fliers, Neville Stack and J. R. Craplin, landed here tonight from Warsaw, having completed a round-trip flight between England and the Polish capital in approximately fifteen and one-half hours.

They left Hestun Airdrome early this morning, reached Warsaw at a little after noon and left there two hours later. They used a British mail plane, averaging 130 miles an hour even though they struck bad weather part of the way.

SIGNAL CHIEF AND SUCCESSOR

Maj Gen. George S. Gibbs (left), chief signal officer of the U. S. Army, will retire June 30 at his own request and become vice president of the International Telephone & Telegraph Corporation. President Hoover has approved the promotion of Col. Irving J. Carr (right), assistant director of the Army Industrial College, to fill the vacancy.

BRITISH AND ITALIAN TERMS OF ACCEPTING HOOVER PLAN

portunity to explain the steps which we have decided to take for this purpose.

"The more consideration we give to the President's declaration the more it seems to us that that declaration constitutes a very great gesture on the part of the United States and it will be a thousand pities if Europe does not respond to it in the same spirit. The beneficial effect of the proposal may be lost unless steps are taken by all countries concerned to give it prompt and practical effect.

"This is particularly the case as regards Germany which, after all, is the essential difficulty. We agree with the view expressed by the United States Government that there is not time for a conference. A more prompt method must be found for putting into operation the proposal of the United States Government for a complete and immediate suspension of German payments to creditor governments.

"Procedure which we would favor is that credit governments should forthwith notify Bank for International Settlements that they agree to proposal for suspension for one year of all German payments due to them. Decision, of course, does not rest with us alone and we are awaiting the views of the other creditor governments; but we hope that it may be possible to secure agreement on these lines as soon as possible.

"President Hoover's proposal applies, however, to "all intergovernmental debts, reparations and relief debts." His majesty's government for their part accept this proposal in spirit as well as letter. They will accordingly be ready to suspend for one year all such intergovernmental debts due to them as soon as President Hoover's proposal has been generally accepted and in the meantime as from July 1 they will refrain from claiming installments that may fall due.

"As regards relief debts His Majesty's government are at once taking steps to inform other European governments, which hold relief bonds, of their action and to invite them to cooperate. Finally although His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom do not regard President Hoover's proposal as directly affecting war obligations of the Dominions and of India to the United Kingdom which are a matter for discussion and settlement between those of His Majesty's governments concerned, we felt we should be interpreting the wishes of the country in deciding freely to offer the Dominions and India the same concession as if proposed for foreign countries under the same conditions.

"Accordingly when inviting assent of the Dominion governments and the government of India for suspension of German payments so far as regards the share to which they are entitled we intimated that on the same principle we would readily give them the option of postponing the whole amount of their war debt payments to the United Kingdom for a period of twelve months from July 1, 1931, if they so desire.

"These proposals will involve loss to current budget which may reach approximately 11,000,000 pounds. This is a serious sacrifice for taxpayers of this country upon whom such heavy calls have already been made but we hope that the step which we are taking in cooperation with the United States will be more than justified by the help it will give to reviving confidence and prosperity."

Matinee Planned For City Orphans

Feature on Saturday to Mark Fair of Central Labor Union.

Orphans from the various Washington asylums and inmates of other children's institutions will be guests of the Central Labor Union at a special matinee Saturday, one of the concluding features of the benefit exposition and fair concluding a two-week run at Fifth stree and Florida avenue northeast.

Shows and rides will be at the disposal of the children without charge, and ice cream and soft drinks will be provided by various stands. Institutions that already have accepted the union's invitation include St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum, Swartzell Methodist Home, St. Rose's Technical School, St. Vincent's Orphanage, Central Union Mission, German Orphan Asylum, Gospel Mission's Children's Home, Hillcrest and the Industrial Home School.

Frank W. Lee, general chairman, will head the committee which will receive the children at the grounds. Assisting will be R. A. Dickson, president of the union; Frank J. Coleman, secretary; John B. Colpoys, Fred S. Walker, E. J. Roche, James Windsor, Charles Freer, R. F. Whalen and Miss Marie de Torres.

Gas Discrimination Charged by Keech

Holds Proposed Schedule D Bars Small Trade Establishments.

The new commercial rate, Schedule D, proposed recently by the Washington Gas Light Co., was attacked yesterday by Peoples Counsel Richmond B. Keech in a letter to the company. The reduction, he declared, is inadequate to remedy the alleged discrimination between charges for house-seating service and for the use of gas in bakeries, restaurants and similar business enterprises.

The letter was based on a number of complaints from caterers, bakers and restaurant operators, who are not included in Schedule D, but are required to pay the rates listed in Schedule C, which is far in excess of the charges for house-heating, according to Mr. Keech.

Scehdule D, which will be one of the items to be considered at the scheduled public hearing in late summer, requires the use of 100,000 cubic feet of gas a month by any consumer who benefits from the lower rate. This would automatically exclude many small commercial establishments which seek relief under Schedule C, Mr. Keech said.

Golf Prizes Presented To Rotary Champions

L. J. Goode, who made a low score of 67 in the Washington Rotary Club's annual golf tournament, was presented the Radcliffe loving cup at a meeting of the club yesterday at the Willard Hotel. Rotarian Eugene C. Gott made the presentation.

Others awarded prizes for low scores in the tournament were Allen Talbot, Clyde Asher, Maurice E. Horton, William Earle Clark, Frederick B. Pyle, Calvert Dickie, Harry Kidwell, Martin Rittenhouse and Grant Leet. Twenty Rotarians from other cities attended the meeting.

New Facilities Asked for School

Grant Parent-Teachers Charge Neighborhood Is Being Slighted.

A concerted effort to obtain new school facilities for the Western section of the city, replacing the U. S. Grant School on G street, between Twenty-first and Twenty-third streets, has been initiated by the Grant School Parent-Teacher Association and the West End Citizens Association.

In a joint appeal for consideration of their needs, the two groups yesterday charged that school authorities have failed grossly to provide that section with adequate school buildings. They point out that the Grant is the only white public school south of K street and west of the White House, to Rock Creek.

With the exception of the playground adjoining the Grant, there are no other playgrounds in the section, members of the organizations said. They declared the Grant Playground was overcrowded and inadequately equipped.

Action Tomorrow On Title Rule Seen

New Traffic Regulation, Effective January 1, to Be Discussed.

The District Commissioners are expected to approve the new automobile titling regulations, prepared by William A. Van Duzer, new director of traffic, and the corporation counsel's office, at their semiweekly meeting tomorrow.

While the regulations do not become effective until next January 1, they will be advertised on July 1 and the new department of vehicles will actually begin issuing certificates of title long before the end of the year so as to avoid congestion and confusion when the 1932 license plates are distributed. No tags will be issued after January 1 until the owner of an auto shows his certificate of title.

Seven employes of the office of superintendent of licenses will be transferred soon to the new traffic director's office, which probably will be moved to the building on C street, west of John Marshall place, now being equipped to house the municipal court early next month.

RADIO BODY SPLITS IN DECISION ON RCA

Revocation of Licenses Is Opposed by 3 Members as 2 Dissent.

(Associated Press.)

The Radio Commission decided by a 3-to-2 vote yesterday that the 1,400 licenses held by four subsidiaries of the Radio Corporation of America should not be revoked because of a Federal court decision holding its tube sale contracts illegal.

Commissioners LaFount, Robinson and Starbuck joined in holding that section 13 of the radio act, which forbids the licensing of a company "finally adjudged guilty" of creating or attempting to create a monopoly in radio communication, was not applicable to the tube contact suit. The opposite view was taken by Chairman Saltzman and Commissioner Sykes in dissenting opinions.

The licenses involved are held by the National Broadcasting Company, Radiomarine Corporation of America, R. C. A.-Victor, Inc., and Radio Communications, Inc., and cover broadcasting, experimental, television and point-to-point communication channels.

Decision Held Insult to Congress.

The commission's decision was immediately denounced by Oswald F. Schuette, executive secretary of the Radio Protective League, as "an insult to the intelligence of Congress which wrote the law."

He demanded that the commission "explain to Congress why it is unwilling to enforce the law against Owen D. Young's $6,000,000,000 radio trust, which has been found guilty by the Federal courts of violating the antitrust laws and which the United States Government has sued to dissolve."

The case came before the commission after the Supreme Court had refused to review the decision of the Delaware Federal Court in a suit brought by Arthur D. Lord, receiver for the DeForest Radio Co., of New Jersey, which held the tube sale contracts in violation of the Clayton act.

Claim Monopoly Was Not Issue.

In their opinion, Commissioners LaFount and Starbuck contended the suit "pertained to a contract for the sale of goods, to wit, radio vacuum tubes," and that "no question of a monopoly in radio communication was involved." Commissioner Robinson, in a separate opinion, supported this view.

Chairman Saltzman expressed the opinion that the court's decree, "when considered in the light of the fact that vacuum tubes are an essential part of radio broadcasting receivers and so necessarily of radio broadcasting communication, precludes any escape from the conviction that the Radio Corporation was unlawfully attempting to monopolize radio communication within the purview of section 13 of the radio act."

Commissioner Sykes wrote that careful study of the court decision and of section 13 "leads me to the conclusion that this section is applicable and that the commission should deny these licenses."

Ruling Called "Discouraging."

"Under this section," he said, "there is no discretion whatsoever vested in the commission."

Spokane, Wash., June 24 (A.P.).—Senator C. C. Dill (Democrat), Washington, said today that the decision of the Federal Radio Commission favoring the Radio Corporation of America, was "extremely discouraging," and makes the antimonopoly provisions of the radio law "a dead letter."

Cunningham Contempt Arraignment Is Friday

Thomas W. Cunningham, former sheriff of Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, will be arraigned in District Supreme Court Friday on an indictment charging him with contempt of the United States Senate. Cunningham refused to tell a Senate committee the source of a $48,000 contribution to the campaign fund of William H. Vare, then a candidate for the Senate.

He was indicted April 20, 1928, and has fought the case up to the United States Supreme Court, which last week issued a mandate ordering that he appear here for arraignment.

DUTIES ON 3 ITEMS RAISED; 4 LOWERED

Dried Eggs, Hemp Cordage and Bicycle Bells See Increases.

(Associated Press.)

Increased duties on three commodities and decreases on four others were proclaimed yesterday by President Hoover on recommendation of the Tariff Commission.

He also approved commission reports advising that no change be made in the duty on five commodities.

"The increases were in the duty on dried eggs from 18 cents to 27 cents per pound, hemp cordage from 3¼ cents to 4½ cents per pound, and bells for bicycles from 50 per cent to 70 per cent ad valorem.

The tariff on Bentwood furniture was lowered from 47½ per cent to 42½ per cent ad valorem, that on packaged olive oil from 9½ to 8 cents per pound, pipe organs and parts from 60 per cent to 35 per cent ad valorem, and pipe organs and parts for specific noncommercial installations from 40 per cent to 35 per cent ad valorem.

Five Items Unchanged.

The commodities on which the commission recommended no changes were pig iron, hides and skins, olive oil in bulk, cheese, and bells other than those used on bicycles and velocipedes.

In its report on pig iron, the commission said British India since 1926 has furnished about 80 per cent of the total imports, and was the chief competing country. These imports were used largely in the Eastern area and amounted to less than 100,000 tons in the eighteen-month period from January 1, 1929, to June 30, 1930, as compared with about 1,200,000 tons supplied to the same markets by Easter nand Buffalo furnaces.

"Importations are apparently limited," the commission's report said, "by the commercial considerations of the availability of transportation facilities at low rates, the demand in the United States market for the types of iron usually imported, and the heavy cost in relation to total value of inland transportation in the United States."

Chinese Eggs Are Hit.

The commission said it recommended no change in the cheese tariff because there was not a substantial importation of a type produced in the United States.

Of dried egg products, it is said the existing duty "fails to equalize differences in costs of production in the United States and China by more than 50 per cent of the amount of duty."

No change in the rate of duty on hides and skins is warranted at this time, the commission said, adding that it had given careful consideration to the maximum benefits that might accrue to producers on consumers from a change in the duty.

the guarantors asked to be excused from further liability for his half of the bond.

Another bondsman offered to replace the $50,000 withdrawn by the earlier guarantor, and Pitts made a formal request for freedom under the full amount. It was refused. He was originally committed to jail without bond following conviction.

Assistant Attorney General Nugent Dodds and his aid, Neil Burkinshaw, who obtained the conviction of Pitts and opposed his release under bond, are expected to take the same stand before Justice Butler they took in the Court of Appeals a week ago.

They charged Pitts has secreted a fund estimated at between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000, has acquired "great holdings" of foreign bonds, and has asserted that he will "somehow escape service of sentence in a penitentiary."

MEAT-COUNTER bargains ARE MORE delicious

WHEN SEASONED WITH sugar

In cooking meat, the combination of sugar and salt blends tastefully with the meat juices.

Every day your meat dealer offers cheap cuts of meat which have an irresistible appeal to your sense of thrift. And you can give any of these cuts an irresistible taste appeal by seasoning them with sugar.

Of course salty should be added to the meat as it cooks, to overcome flatness. But the value of adding sugar is that it develops and heightens the flavor of the meat in a way no other ingredient can.

Try a dash of sugar to season pot-roasts, braised lamb and veal, stews and meat loaf. In boiling corned beef or ham, add at least a half cup of sugar to the water. "A dash of sugar to a pinch of salt" is also a fine seasoning for fresh or canned vegetables. Flavor and season with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

BEAUTY'S LETTERS OFFER NEW PUZZLE

Handwriting Experts Probe Faithfull's Charges of Forgery.

New York, June 24 (A.P.).—Starr Faithfull's posthumously revealed letters to Dr. G. Jameson Carr, bachelor physician of the liner Franconia, provided the State today with a new enigma in the death of the Greenwich Village girl, drowned June 8 at Long Beach, Long Island.

Handwriting experts engaged by the Nassau County authorities scrutinized the despairing missives, in which were disclosed to the grand jury last night the long-sought motives which would have prompted the girl to commit suicide.

They strove to answer the vexed questions raised by Stanley E. Faithfull, her stepfather.

Genuineness Is Questioned.

Did Starr Faithfull write the suicide letters offered as genuine by Dr. Carr?

Were they forged? If so, why? By whom?

Dr. Carr brought the letters with him to America on the S. S. Laconia, which arrived Monday, and personally tendered them to District Attorney Elvin Edwards in the Mineola Courthouse.

The letters were written on stationery which could have have been procured only in New York, were regularly postmarked and dispatched on eastward bound liners and delivered to Dr. Carr at the Cunard Line offices in England. They had been sent on fast boats, evidently to outstrip the liner Franconia on which the physician was bound for Liverpool and arrived before he did.

No sooner had they been offered to the grand jury last night than Mr. Faithfull denounced them as forgeries and part of a "frame-up to prove that Starr committed suicide."

"Wealthy Man" Is Still Sought.

Martin W. Littleton, jr., assistant district attorney, said production of the letters had "by no means closed the case." Police Inspector Harold King, all along inclined to a theory the girl died by her own hand, said he was "still hard at work seeking a motive for either suicide or murder." Prosecutor Edwards asserted search with "renewed vigor" would be made for a "prominent and wealthy man" with whom a taxicab driver said he saw Starr on Friday, day of her disappearance.

It was this latter angle of the case which caused the prosecutor to send several more detectives to check up once more with Harry Goldstein, the chauffeur, held on a Los Angeles larceny and wife-desertion charge, on a story Goldstein told of having driven Starr and the unidentified man through France and Germany on an eight-day tour in 1928. Goldstein was the witness who said he saw the pair in Manhattan again June 5 in the vicinity of Grand Central Station.

The grand jury will not meet again until Friday.

Ruth Nichols Expresses Joy Over Hop's Success

St. Johns, N. B., June 24 (A.P.).—The triumph of Post and Gatty in spanning the ocean wastes brought congratulations from their less fortunate sister aviator, Ruth Nichols, when she was informed of their safe landing as she lay in a hospital bed here today.

"Oh, that is wonderful. I am so glad," she said. "My thoughts have been with them all morning. I'm glad they made it. I wish I could be there to congratulate them."

HOOVER GETS NEVADA GIFTS

U.S. GAINS CRUISERS UNDER NEW FIGURES

Data Given to League May Be Warmly Discussed at Conference.

rated tonnage does not come from new ships, but from a recopitulation of the tonnage of ships in service and building.

Despite a loss in total tonage, this country gains cruiser strength, in view of the finding that American cruiser tonnage was not up to the maximum of 180,000 tons allowed under the treaty.

In the former ratings the Chester, Houston, Northampton, Pensacola and Salt Lake City were rated at 10,000 tons. The new ratings list the Chester at 9,200 tons; the Houston and Northampton at 9,050 tons, and the Pensacola and Salt Lake City at 9,100 tons. This would mean a saving of 4,500 tons towardan additional cruiser.

Other Reductions Shown.

The Chicago, Louisville and Augusta, formerly rated at 10,000 tons, now are rated: Chicago, 9,300; Louisville and Augusta, 9,050 each; a saving of 2,600 more toward a new cruiser of the same type.

Six other 8-inch gun cruisers are reported as in the process of building in the list transmitted by Secretary Stimson. These are the Indianapolis, Minneapolis, Astoria, New Orleans, Portland and the CL-38, each of which is listed at 10,000 tons. The average saving on the tonnage of the other cruisers was 887.5 tons. If a similar saving were made in the tonnage of these six there would be added 5,325 tons to the surplus the United States could use for cruisers under the treaty. This would make the total surplus cruiser tonnage 12,425.

Four other cruisers have been appropriated for or authorized by Congress, each estimated as of 10,000 tons. If an average saving in tonnage was made on each, the total tonnage saved would be 15,975 tons. If the average saving were exceeded, as it might well be, the saving might be enough to permit construction of a second additional cruiser.

Battleship Tonnage Increases.

There is no hope of ekeing out another battleship on the basis of Secretary Stimson's figures. Alterations to battleships have resulted in 100 tons added to the rated tonnage of the Oklahoma, 29,000 tons; 300 to the Nevada, 29,000 tons, while the Arkansas drops 100 tons to 26,000 tons.

These changes in rated tonnage are minor as compared with the announcement of Secretary Stimson that alterations to the Idaho, New Mexico and Mississippi are expected to add 3,000 tons to each of the warships. Against this increased tonnage, Secretary Stimson told the league, the United States will scrap the Florida, 21,900 tons, and the Utah, 22,000 tons, and use the Wyoming, 26,000 tons, as a training ship. Passing of these three ships would reduce the battleship tonnage of this country by 69,900 tons, leaving a total rated tonnage to the Nation of 453,900 tons in capital ships.

Recapitulation of destroyer tonnage has resulted in an increase of about 25,000 tons. These vessels have been undergoing repairs and changes and roughly about 100 tons has been added to each in new fire control appaatus.

Weight Saving Devices Used.

The savings in the cruiser class were achieved by careful study and cooperation between the Navy Department and the contractors who built the ships. Bonuses were offered for weight saving. Specifications were changed so that lighter material was used where possible. Electric welding was employed in places where it had been expected heavy rivets would be used.

Whether the United States can take advantage of the saving in tonnage is problematical. The London treaty limits the total tonnage of the United States, Great Britain and Japan, but not the tonnage of individual ships. Each nation is free to build as many ships as it wishes, so long as the total tonnage does not exceed the limit.

MURPHY—On Tuesday, June 23, 1931, at the residence of his mother, Dresden Apartments, JOHN MONTGOMERY, of New York City, beloved husband of Beulah F. Murphy, and son of the late Edward V. and Mary Montgomery Murphy. Funeral from the residence of his brother, James W. Murphy, 7 Primrose street, Chevy Chase, Md., on Friday morning, June 26. AIMEE M'PHERSON'S TAX FIGHT TO GO ON U. S. Loses in Attempt to Have Board Cancel Her Appeal.

(Associated Press.

Aimee Semple McPherson yesterday obtained permission from the Board of Tax Appeals to continue her contest against paying the Government an additional $17,486 in income taxes. The board overruled a motion by the Internal Revenue Bureau to dismiss the application of the Los Angeles evangelist for a redetermination of her 1927 and 1928 taxes.

The bureau contended the application was void because it had not been signed by Mrs. McPherson. L. A. Luce, of Washington, one of the evangelist's attorneys, explained she had not signed it because she was in Europe when it was presented. He filed an amended petition bearing her signature.

The Internal Revenue Bureau assessed the additional tax on the ground she should have reported income of $19,236 for 1927 instead of $9,712 and $107,395 for 1928 instead of $18,668. The evangelist replied that she had reported all her income which was taxable.

In her petition she said the $9,524 added by the Government to her 1927 income was a gift from the congregation of Angelus Temple, of which she is pastor, and hence was not taxable.

She explained it had been contributed as a "defense fund," following her disappearance in 1926, to obtain evidence that she had been kidnaped.

The amount added to her 1928 income included a payment of $38,871 on a life insurance policy for her by the Echo Park Evangelistic Association, $12,000 in cashier's checks drawn from a Los Angeles bank account maintained by "Elizabeth Johnson" and profits from real estate transactions.

DENMARK PREPARES TO WELCOME PLANE

Hillig and Hoiriis Are Due to Reach Copenhagen at 7:30 A. M. Today.

9 Planes Blazed Trail For Post-Gatty Flight

New York, June 24 (A.P.).—Nine planes have crossed the North Atlantic nonstop from West to East, blazing the trail for Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, who reached Europe today.

First nonstop crossing of the North Atlantic by airplane was accomplished in 1919 by Capt. John Alcock and Lieut. Arthur W. Brown. Other successful West-East nonstop airplane crossings follow:

May, 1927—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

June, 1927—Clarence D. Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine.

June, 1927—Admiral Richard E. Byrd, Bernt Balchen, Bert Acosta and George Noville.

August, 1927—William F. Schlee and William Brock.

June, 1928—Wilmer Stultz, Louis Gordon and Amelia Earhart (Mrs. George P. Putnam).

June, 1929—Jean Assolant, Rene Lefevre, Armeno Lotti and American stowaway, Arthur Schreiber.

July, 1929—Roger Q. Williams and Lewis Yancy.

October, 1930—Capt. Errol Boyd and Lieut. H. F. Connor.

then extend them the nation's welcome.

There will be a parade about the airport, if the greeting does not turn into one of those spontaneous near riots. Tyge Rothe, president of the aeronautical society, will present the society's gold plaque.

The fliers have no radio, so there was no word from them after they started from Harbor Grace early in the morning.

Mrs. Hoiriis, however, has a crumpled cablegram already worn with much passing about, which reads:

"See you Thursday—Holger."

From here the fliers plan to go on to Germany for a visit to Hillig's birthplace.

Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, June 24 (A.P.).—Through a hazy, drizzling sky in which they had scant chance of being sighted from the murky seas below, Otto Hillig and Holger Hoiriis were speeding eastward across the Atlantic tonight on the second transocean flight from these shores in as many days.

At 8 o'clock tonight no word had come to Harbor Grace to indicate that all was not well with the fliers, bound for their homelands, Germany and Denmark. They were on pleasure bent—and apparently nothing had happened to rob them of the joys of their voyage.

Ships at sea reported generally thick weather, with a moderate wind, but news of wind and rain had been received well in advance of the take-off. The "flying photographer" and his younger mate—Hillig is 55 and Hoiriis 28—have flown in far worse conditions than now confront them, and no fears were felt for their safety.

Unreported by Ships.

Since the pair of aerial "joyriders" had no radio, communication between the Liberty—so named for Hillig's home town in New York—was impossible. Nor had any of the dozen or more liners along their path on the Great Circle reported even catching a glimpse of the air tourists.

It was estimated at 8 p. m. (E. S. T.) that they had gone well past the half-way mark to the European continent. Their schedule called for arrival at Copenhagen, 3,150 miles, about 7:30 o'clock (E. S. T.) tomorrow morning.

They planned to fly the route across the northerly tip of Ireland, thence across the North Sea to Denmark.

With Hillig at the controls of his shiny $22,000 machine, the take-off at 3:24 a. m. (E. S. T.) today was perfect.

Hillig, a German, and Hoiriis, a Dane, both are good fliers. Each can "spell" the other when they need rest.

They had two quiet days before the hop. In fine spirits, they saw Wiley Post and Harold Gatty get off yesterday, but will not know until they have grounded again that their pacemakers negotiated the trip to Berlin in the Winnie Mae without mishap.

Barred From Graf Zeppelin.

Hillig conceived the idea two years ago of flying home as a fitting contrast to his method of coming to America and a visible mark of the success he had made in the country of his adoption. He bought a ticket to Germany on the Graf Zeppelin, which was then in America, but two days before the dirigible sailed he was notified his reservation had been cancelled.

The middle-aged photographer of Liberty, N. Y., brought suit, which finally was settled out of court for a reported $25,000. With that money he bought the plane in which he and Hoiriis were flying the ocean tonight.

Hillig, 55 years old, met Hoiriis, who is 29, last year when the latter was in Liberty on a barnstorming trip. Hoiriis had been looking for some one to finance an Atlantic flight and Hillig readily fell in with the plan.

Hillig, during the months of preparation, has been up in all kinds of weather with Hoiriis and he can take the controls occasionally to relieve his pilot.

Hoiriis started to be a farmer in Denmark but seven years ago he decided to become an aviator and emigrated to the United States. For a time he worked as a farmhand and day laborer, but finally achieved his ambition.

Merely "Vacation Jaunt."

Hillig and Hoiriis arrived here two days ago from St. John, New Brunswick, where they had flown from Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., their starting point. They look upon their flight as a vacation jaunt and speed is no object, so they did not attempt to hasten the getaway when Wiley Post and Harold Gatty arrived yesterday on their way around the world. Instead they turned to and helped the world-girdlers' preparations and waved them off when they left.

New York, June 24 (A.P.).—Ships on the great circle wirelessed the Associated Press tonight of overcast weather, moderate winds and some rain, but no conditions that would gravely affect the chances of Otto Hillig and Holger Hoiriis reaching Europe on their eastward flight from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.

The master of the S. S. Hamburg radioed:

"Have been trying to give weather reports to plane all day. No reply at 11 p. m. G. M. T. (6 p. m. E. S. T.) passed Casquets (Channel Islands) wind east northeast, force three (moderate). Overcast but visibility clear."

The captain of the S. S. Bremen reported:

"11 p. m. G. M. T., 49:25 north, 15:30 west wind west northwest six (about 24 miles per hour) drizzling and hazy, slight sea and sky overcast."

The position is about 100 miles off the Irish coast.

Capt. Irgens, of the S. S. Stavengerfjord, said:

"Position at 11 p. m. G. M. T., 52:30 north by 3:50 west (almost in mid-Atlantic). Southerly light winds, fine clear weather since last telegram. No planes sighted. Heard KHRDW test wireless outfit at 11:40 p. m. yesterday."

A $5,000 silver loving cup has been promised by Col. E. H. R. Green to stimulate international participating in the Miami-All-American air races next year.

NURSE'S DEATH LAID TO ARTIFICIAL TOOTH

Medical Experts Introduced to Clear Hathaway of Strangling Girl.

Newport, R. I., June 24 (A.P.).—The testimony of two medical experts was introduced today in an effort to satisfy a jury that Elliott R. Hathaway, son of a Massachusetts legislator, did not strangle Verna Russell, 20-year-old student nurse. The defense sought to show she died an accidental death, choking on a fragment of artificial tooth.

James Hamilton, of Providence, and Both of the defense witnesses, Dr. Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, acting chief medical examiner of the City of New York, testified that all the various symptoms discovered in examinations of the girl's body were consistent with death caused by a fragment of porcelain, such as was discovered in her throat.

State witnesses previously testified to skin-deep discolorations about the girl's throat, in support of the allegation that Hathaway strangled her. Dr. Gonzales said such marks might be made by a person choking to death on a foreign body in the throat by that person's own hands.

The last hour was occupied chiefly by Attorney Hurley in reading to Dr. Gonzales the same voluminous hypothetical question which took him nearly two hours to frame and present to Dr. Hamilton at the morning session.

The question would place on the record Dr. Gonzales' opinion of the nurses' death. Dr. Hamilton said he believed she died of accidental strangulation.

named Garrett or Barrett, or something. Wants to talk to him?"

"No," both fliers said, yawning together, "where did you say we could wash up?"

By degrees the heroes got as far as the airport restaurant which had been locked against members of the crowd who pressed their noses against the windows and shouted, "Hoch!"

They were pretty hungry, but people at their elbows kept on asking questions and every time they lifted a fork they had to put it down again to talk.

This got under the skin of the mob peeping through the windows and somebody outside shouted:

"Donnerwetter! Let the poor fellows eat!"

They had had only a couple of sandwiches and tea on the way from America and some champagne at Hanover with more champagne here. When they finally polished off this much-interrupted meal with beer and port wine they were really tired and went to bed without leaving the building.

British Aviators Extend Warm Welcome to Pair

Chester, England, June 24 (A.P.).—The whirlwind American airmen, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, spent an hour and twenty minutes here today, during which they ate lunch, had their plane refueled, and displayed plenty of impatience to be on their way.

Their ship slid down out of the skies at 12:45 p. m. (6:45 a. m., E. S. T.) at Sealand Airdrome, of the Royal Air Force.

"Hullo, England; we've done it," said Gatty as he stepped out of the plane and accepted the outstretched hands of Royal Air pilots and members of the ground staff, who pressed about the Winnie Mae.

At 2:05 p. m. (8:05 a. m., E. S. T.) the ship swept into the air again, followed by the cheers of a great crowd of Chester residents present to see the first transatlantic airmen of the 1931 season.

News of Others Awaited.

With Gatty and Post on their way, members of the Royal Air Force settled down to await news of the second pair of ocean fliers, Otto Hillig and Holger Hoiriis, en route from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.

Gatty and Post made a good impression on their airmen hosts here.

"We had," said Post, "a right good flight. It has been a splendid trip throughout.

"In truth, it has been a real joy trip, and the only difficulty we experienced was over a period of three or four hours during the early stages of the flight when we ran into bad weather.

"The rest of the journey was enjoyable and the sea was calm. We are now well ahead of our schedule.

Swooped Below Clouds.

"We passed through one cloud bank at great height and swooped down below it, and we were surprised to find water, for we thought we were actually flying over Europe. When we saw the sea we decided to carry on until we struck land. Later we noticed what appeared to be cross roads and agreed to make a landing.

"When the machine came to a standstill we were surprised to learn we were at a royal air force station in England.

"Conditions, as soon as we reached Ireland, were not so good as when we were over the Atlantic. There was fog and rain, but I suppose we shall encounter plenty of that before we reach our goal.

"We set out to fly the Atlantic in eighteen hours and we have done it in less, so we are delighted."

Their time was 16 hours 17 minutes for the 2,100-mile hop from Harbor Grace, giving them an approximate speed of 130 miles an hour.

WARRANT LACK HIT IN RUM RADIO RAID

Messages Allegedly Sent to Montauk Liquor Fleet Read in Court.

Newark, N. J., June 24 (A.P.).—Federal Judge J. Lyles Glenn, of South Carolina, who with a jury, is hearing the case of the alleged Atlantic Highlands rum syndicate, today criticized failure of prohibition officers to get a search warrant before the raid on October 16, 1929, on the ring's alleged radio station.

The Government contends this station, operated by Malcolm MacMasters, a defendant, was the pulse of the activities of the rum fleet off Montauk Point. Only a bench warrant was issued for MacMasters' arrest. He was indicted for violation of the radio act. This indictment later was quashed.

Defense counsel for 37 of the 59 men indicted contends the evidence seized on the radio violation indictment can not be used in connection with a later indictment charging all defendants with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act.

"Down where I come from," said the court, "any Federal judge will grant a search warrant on sufficient evidence. Why did not these officers get a search warrant after these messages had been received over a period of months?"

Most of today's session was taken up with completion of the reading of intercepted messages by Forest Redfern, radio expert of the Department of Commerce. These messages later must be shown by the Government to have been definitely connected with the defendants before they become a permanent part of the record.

turn to "voluntary imprisonment" in an effort to arouse foreign sympathy to bring pressure on Italy.

The Italian reply, delivered by Ambassador Count de Vecchi without the usual ceremony, protested the alleged "secret and seditious" dealings of the Azione Cattolica, Catholic layman's organization, in Vatican palaces, which enjoy extraterritorial rights. It also protested the Pope's "unjust appeal" for world sympathy in the controversy.

The answer concluded that the real problem under consideration centers in the interpretation of article 43 of the concordat, concerning the right of existence of the Azione Cattolica as a nonpolitical organization, and that Italy is ready to start negotiations on that subject. The Pope has insisted, however, that nothing can be done until the Fascist government officially deplores alleged insults to the pontiff.

Italy said the government refused to deplore the alleged insults to any greater extent than already expressed, which the Vatican considered insufficient. It also refused to reopen the young men's Catholic clubs closed on charges of political activities.

The note said Italy's previous pronouncements had been sufficient as expressions of regret in regard to anti-papal incidents and added that the Vatican had failed to deplore anti-Fascist manifestations at Zagred, the Croatian capital.

The note repeated charges that the Azione Cattolica held secret meetings in palaces enjoying extraterritorial rights, contrary to Italian law and with a spirit against the state. It added that only those which are exclusively religious may be reopened on permission of local authorities. It charged that the Azione Cattolica admitted anti-Fascists to membership.

Cardinal Pacelli, Vatican secretary of state, received the note and conferred with Pope Pius. An hour and a half later the Pope addressed 90 Neapolitan pilgrims, saying:

"The situation is bad. Things are not going normally and are not tending to return to normal.

"At present the situation is painful and abnormal. Both the Pope and the Holy See have been treated as they do not deserve."

In an interview Thomas D. Baille yesterday gave out the following statement:

"Having announced myself a candidate for membership on the county board or county board of commissioners, subject to the nomination of the Republican convention, it is well and meet that I state that if there is any man or woman in Arlington County better qualified, or more familiar with conditions, and the needs of the county, or who is more willing to ferret out and bring to the surface the many evils lurking in the administration of the county's affairs, I should be glad to have him or her announce their candidacy—for in the election of such, the needs of Arlington County will assuredly be well met.

"In answer to the ten conditions advanced by the recently organized Better Government League, for qualifications as a member of this board, I wish to state that I am mentally, morally and physically fit to sit in deliberation upon any question wherein the interest of Arlington County and its taxpayers are involved, at any time, with any citizen or group of citizens in the county, not excepting The Great Ashton C. Jones.

"Furthermore, I will, during the campaign, expose and prove the flagrant violation of one of the State laws, affecting the interests of every citizen and taxpayer of Arlington County.

I am a citizen of the county and have given to the people the only real, live county newspaper they have ever had."

Pursuant to the plan of the Republican party organization, J. C. Spaulding, county chairman, last night issued the official call for the county convention of delegated representatives of the Republican party of Arlington County to be held in the Lyon Park Community House July 10 to select candidates for the several State and county offices.

The convention will consist of 1 delegate for each 25 votes cast for President Hoover in 1928. The number of delegates by precincts follows:

Arlington, 19; Ballston, 18; Carne, 10; Cherrydale, 17; Clarendon, No. 1, 15; Clarendon, No. 2, 19; East Falls Church, 5; Glencarlyn, 4; Lyon Park, 13; Rosslyn, 11, and Virginia Highlands, 13.

The precinct chairmen are directed to call mass meetings for the purpose of selecting delegates July 7, at 8 o'clock.

These meetings will be held at the following places:

Arlington, Arlington fire house; Ballston, Ray Cogswell electric store; Carne, Minor's office; Clarendon, No. 1, C. W. Clever real estate office; Clarendon, No. 2, Spaulding Building, Wilson boulevard; East Falls Church, P. B. Nourse's store; Lyon Park, Havenner's store; Rosslyn, Rose Bros. Co. office; Virginia Highlands, Firemen's hall; Glen Carlyn, Public Library Building.

Bauserman, trading as Bauserman Motor Co., for $20,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained in an automobile accident on Columbia pike, September 18, 1929, yesterday returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $1,500.

Attorney Amos C. Crounse appeared as counsel for the plaintiff while Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth and H. Bruce Green represented the defendant.

The joint carnival committee of the Arlington Volunteer Fire Department and the ladies' auxiliary meets at the firehouse tomorrow night. Chief A. C. Scheffel is general chairman and Mrs. George F. Cook, president of the auxiliary, is chairman of the ladies' stands. Other members are Charles Snoots, Carl Scheffel, Daniel Ritnour, William McAtee, Elmer J. Blackmer, Thomas Snoots, Mrs. J. E. Bamforth and Mrs. Elmer J. Blackmer. The carnival will be held the week of July 13.

Funeral services for Miss Ella Jane Gilbert, 70 years old, who died at her home on Glebe road, near Ballston, Monday, will be conducted from the home at 2 o'clock this afternoon by the Rev. Robert N. Castleman, of Falls Church. Burial will be in Columbia Gardens Cemetery, Clarendon. Miss Gilbert is survived by one sister, Miss Anna Gilbert, and two brothers, Horace Gilbert and Curtis I. Gilbert.

The will of the late Edwin L. Cockrell was probated in the office of William H. Duncan, clerk of the Circuit Court of Arlington County, yesterday. Judge Harry R. Thomas and L. H. Dudley, cashier of the Alexandria National Bank, qualified as executors. Bond was executed in the sum of $180,000.

The Arlington County Monarch Club will hold its weekly luncheon meeting at noon today at the Windsor Arms, Glebe road.

"Its task," he said, "is to maintain a free and open market in listed securities in behalf of the whole public.

"Its preoccupation is and must be with sound methods of finance and with legitimate processes of investment and speculation themselves.

Ralph Spanks, grocery store owner in Seat Pleasant, Prince Georges County, was arrested and held in $1,000 on charges of possession of liquor, after a raid by county police at the store last night. The policemen said they found fourteen gallons of alleged whiskey in the store.

The alleged liquor was found in a number of jars and kegs, most of them partially empty, police said. The raid was staged by Sergt. A. W. Hepburn and Policemen G. William Gray and Elon Turner.

Stick of Candy 'Sucker' Kills West Virginia Boy

Special to The Washington Post.

Welch, W. Va., June 24.—A candy "sucker" on a stick caused the death of Noah Edgar Sigler, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Sigler, at Hemphill, McDowell County.

The child was playing on the porch of the family home and sucking the candy. He lost his balance and toppled head-first to the ground, a few feet below, but the wooden stick with sharpened end, on which the candy was fastened, was driven through the back of his throat and into his brain. He died within a few minutes.

POST BEACH COLONY OFFERS HEAT HAVEN

Summer Home in Cool Woods on South River Is Now Within Reach.

July, August and September with their days of hot sunshine and their sultry nights hold little promise of pleasure for those who are forced to remain in their city homes and apartments. The outlook for residents of the Capital who might be forced to remain at home during these three months is not so bright.

But there is a way for every Washingtonian to escape the disadvantages of summer weather at little cost and without traveling hundreds of miles to the North.

The Washington Post is offering Capital residents an opportunity to spend the remainder of this summer and many summers to come in peace and quiet in a spot where recreation facilities are of the best. The cost of participating in this offer is so small that it need not stretch the pocketbook of any one.

Woodland Beach, a distinctive summer home site development, is now open and the public is invited to investigate it and join the hundreds of Washingtonians who have already become lot owners and are either building or planning to build on their property.

The price of all lots at Woodland Beach is $93. That amount, however, need not be paid in cash, for The Post has arranged terms which will suit any one. An initial payment of $9 plus the cost of a subscription to The Post is all that is necessary to become a lot owner and after that the remainder may be paid in monthly installments of $3.50.

Woodland Beach is located on two coves of the South River in Maryland. It is only 32 miles from the Capital in a spot which takes the purchaser really close to nature. The beach property offers facilities for boating, bathing and fishing together with wooded areas for those who like to tramp around in the shade. It is reached via the Defense highway toward Annapolis, as far as Camp Parole, turning right there on Maryland State highway No. 2 across the South River and then left on Mayo road which leads to the beach. The roads are good and directions clearly visible all along the way.

There is ample time to purchase a lot at Woodland Beach, erect a summer cottage and enjoy two or three months of real happiness "in the country."

All lots are being sold on the basis of "first come, first served" and the choice locations still available will be disposed of in that manner. Drop in at The Post today and learn all about Woodland Beach before it is too late.

Power Rate Row Action Deferred

Electric Company Heads Will Consider Matter Next Month.

Potomac Electric Power Co. directors yesterday afternoon postponed action in the electric rate controversy with the Public Utilities Commission until their next meeting July 22.

No official explanation was given for the delay. Announcement previously had been made that the directors would decide what action would be taken on the sliding scale recently put into effect by the utilities body to cut the basic return of the power company from 7½ to 7 per cent.

Meanwhile the new sliding scale stands, and the greater excess profits available for reduction in consumers' rates has been accumulating since June 8, when the order was adopted.

Page County Crops Cut 10 Per Cent by Storms

Special to The Washington Post.

Luray, Va., June 24.—Members of the Page County Farm Bureau report a 10 per cent loss of the wheat and barley crops of the county due to wind and rain within the past week. The crops were too heavy to withstand the heavy gales, they declare, while binders are unable to do effective work in cutting the crops.

The outlook for a 100 per cent yield of these crops was indicated ten days ago. In order to gather the crops before further damage, binders pulled by tractors have been working all night in some fields.

Coal Dealers' Outing Draws Crowd of 300

Washington coal merchants and their families, forming a party of more than 300 persons, yesterday journeyed to Casa del Rio, on South River, Md., for their annual outing. Games, athletics and dancing were features of a picnic program.

Motor caravan bearing the coal men left Peace Monument for the Maryland resort at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, behind a police vanguard that escorted them to the city boundaries. Wash B. Williams, chairman of the coal merchants' group of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, was in charge of arrangements.

FRANCE REPLIES.

Details of the French reply to President Hoover's proposal for a moratorium on all war debt and reparation payments have not yet been given to the public, but the brief announcement from Paris lends encouragement to the hope that France will not frustrate the proposed easement of Germany's obligations. The French government agrees that Germany is in need of relief, and that a holiday on reparations and debt payments would aid in the economic recovery of Europe. France is ready to cooperate if that cooperation does not involve too great a sacrifice.

What France is trying to avoid is a break in the Young plan. There will be no argument against the postponement of the conditional annuity from Germany. But the French government does not look with favor on the suspension of those payments which under the Young plan are considered unconditional. The French Cabinet is willing that this fund should be lent back to Germany after it has been paid into the Bank of International Settlements. In that way the Young plan would remain operative and Germany would be relieved to the extent contemplated by President Hoover.

This may be the solution of the problem. President Hoover has made clear that he is interested in the broad principle of economic relief for Germany during this crisis and not in the details as to how that shall be accomplished. No one will question that it is to the advantage of France to retain the Young plan intact. The United States could gain nothing by an upset of this financial arrangement under which reparations are distributed to the allied powers. It may be assumed, therefore, that the administration will accept the French suggestion as a manifestation of good will and as a basis for further negotiations.

The hesitation of France may prove to be wise later on. In the enthusiasm of the moment there is danger of not looking far enough ahead. President Hoover has proposed nothing but a suspension of payments for one year. This is not a step toward cancellation of war debts or toward freeing Germany from reparations. The powers that are contemplating this suspension can well afford to negotiate it in such a way as not to disturb the system under which European nations meet their obligations to each other. No nation is more interested in preventing a stampede toward cancellation of debts and reparations one year hence than is the United States.

President Hoover's proposal was not based upon the Young plan. Inasmuch as the United States is not a party to that agreement, there was no occasion for the Government to work out the details of harmonizing its offer with the Young plan. That was a problem for European nations. Most of them found no difficulty in accepting the American proposal because Germany already has the right of a moratorium in a crisis. The crux of the whole problem has been the nonpostponable annuities which Germany agreed to pay, mostly to France. With a solution of this difficulty apparently in the process of formation, the most formidable obstacle in the way of the President's proposal begins to crumble.

BELATED HONORS.

Tomorrow morning there will be an "impressive ceremony" at Fort Myer when Brig. Gen. Edgar T. Collins, acting under authority of the War Department, will pin the Distinguished Service Cross upon the breast of a member of the Metropolitan Police Force. The veteran to be thus honored is former Capt. John F. Scott, and the honor to be conferred upon him recognizes that "he displayed extraordinary heroism in action at St. Souplet, France, when his command, a part of the Thirtieth Division, was under a withering machine gun fire. He inspired his men to hold their ground in face of a big German counterattack, thus preventing a breakthrough that might have been fatal to his regiment."

The question naturally arises, "When did this heroic action occur?" The answer is that the regiment was saved on October 11, 1918. Thus, nearly thirteen years after this soldier displayed "extraordinary heroism" his grateful country has found out that he is entitled to recognition. Incidentally, the War Department announces that the Medal of Honor was awarded to Private Blackwell and the Distinguished Service Cross to Private Decatur F. Rose, both members of Capt. Scott's company in the North Carolina National Guard, which company formed a portion of the Thirtieth Division.

Although it has taken thirteen years to decide that Capt. Scott is entitled to this great honor from his country, he may consider himself more fortunate than Blackwell, who was killed in action. But why does it take thirteen years to convince the Government that a soldier who displayed extraordinary heroism in the A. E. F. is entitled to be honored by his countrymen?

RADIO MONOPOLY.

Fuel has been added to the fire which is licking at the heels of the so-called radio trust by yesterday's decision of the Federal Radio Commission. The controversy will unquestionably be carried before Congress at its next session, and may result in new legislation. Powerful influences will doubtless be marshaled on both sides.

The case against the Radio Corporation of America turned upon an interpretation of the radio act, which gives the commission authority to deny licenses to any firm guilty of creating or trying to create a radio monopoly. There is no question as to the fact that the company violated the antitrust laws in its tube sale contracts, since the Supreme Court refused to review the decision of the lower court in which the company was found guilty. Two members of the Radio Commission think that this disqualifies the company from holding broadcasting licenses. But a majority of the commissioners held that even though the company may have violated the antitrust laws, it has not attempted to monopolize radio communication. Revocation of licenses is not required, this opinion contends, when the monopoly complained of is outside of the communications field.

In short, the Radio Commission has set itself up as the guardian against monopoly on the air and not against restraint of trade in radio appliances. What Congress intended in this respect is not clear. The act refers to "using unfair methods of competition," but does it mean competition in radio communication or in the sale of radio goods? Apparently the controversy can be settled only by clarification of the act. In the meantime the majority opinion must stand.

There ought not to be any ambiguity about the language of this act restraining radio monopoly. It is imperative that the limited channels of radio communication be kept open for the benefit of the public. How far the Radio Commission should be authorized to go in preserving this new industry from the taint of monopoly is a question of administration which ought not to be difficult to solve.

LAND TAX STIRS ENGLAND.

Americans generally do not realize the primary cause of the great agitation in England as a result of the proposed land tax. It is because England has never paid any taxes on values assessed on the land itself. It is because it is difficult to foresee just what the result of this revolutionary tax may be that there is so much discussion, varying from enthusiastic support to violent opposition.

Analogous taxes in England have been levied, not upon the capital, or sales value, of land, as in the United States, but upon the "annual" or "renting" value. These taxes are paid, not by the owner of the land, but the tenant. This explains the concern of the big landed proprietors of the penny-in-the-pound tax which the chancellor of the exchequer, Philip Snowden, expects to begin collecting two years hence for the first time on land values.

Opposition from the conservative landed class is based on the fear that the new tax will cause the abandonment and subdivision of many great estates, and possibly ruin many smaller owners. Support comes from those who point to the experience of this country, and who believe the tax will open opportunity to acquire holdings through subdivision that have not been obtainable heretofore. Thus arguments as to good and bad effects are hotly contended, and the outcome must remain a matter of speculation until the practical effects of the law are seen.

The owner of productive property pays income taxes on rents received, of course, but he pays no tax on the land, nor even upon an untenanted house. The land tax, it is claimed, will cause holders to improve their property or sell, thus making for development and progress. The new tax will apply to every piece of land in England, and will be assessed upon its "site value." This will be determined, regardless of the use to which the land is put, by fixing its sale value, considering it as vacant land, yet taking into account buildings, or improvements, that surround it.

However opinions differ as to the ultimate effect of the tax, there is little question that it will make some radical changes. Its added burdens will bear very heavily upon many industrial holdings, and in the case of city and suburban residential property, already taxed to the extent often of 50 per cent or more of rental value, it may readily result in wholesale changes of ownership, since the new bill will endeavor to prohibit the land tax being passed on to the tenant. It seems highly probable that Labor and Liberal votes will insure the passage of the land tax bill and it will be interesting to see its influence; whether the rural beauties of England will be impaired, and if so, whether that loss will be compensated by the great show places of titled aristocracy becoming the sites of many happy middle-class homes.

DANGEROUS EXPLOITS.

Every year the long days of summer bring with them an orgy of transoceanic flying. Several successful flights across the Atlantic and many disastrous failures have not yet removed the element of novelty which lures ambitious young pilots to endanger their lives. Wiley Post and Harold Gatty are engaged in a frantic effort to lower the record for flying around the world. Otto Hillig and Holger Hoirlis covet the honor of linking the Western Hemisphere with Copenhagen through a nonstop flight. Miss Ruth Nichols, who has ambitions to become America's feminine "lone eagle," is in a hospital with two cracked vertebrae as a result of a faulty landing at St. John, New Brunswick.

Miss Nichols is, of course, undaunted by her experience. She is anxious to resume her projected solo flight across the Atlantic as soon as she recovers and her plane is repaired. But it will be some time before she can take the air again. In the interim she may decide that her quest is not worthy of the sacrifice it entails. The public would doubtless admire her good judgment more if she turns back than it would her courage if she persists in this worthless exploit.

Few people doubt that the air can be conquered over the sea as well as over the land. But this does not justify a needless sacrifice of life in flights that are recognized as unsafe. The percentage of successful flights over long stretches of water is not impressive. Skillful pilots can better serve the interests of aviation by refusing to gamble with death in an effort to gain notoriety.

For the benefit of those folks who haven't noticed the weather during the last few days the Weather Bureau announces that summer has begun.

Every one agrees that Germany is hard up. Any European nation that can't put out more than one battleship at a time needs help.

CALVIN COOLIDGE SAYS:

Northampton, Mass., June 24.—The United States was founded on the theory that all men were created equal. When we examine that principle we shall avoid much confusion if we first define our terms. We have no difficulty about the meaning of equality, but what we mean by men is not so plain.

Man has certain physical characteristics of a material nature which have very much in common with the animal kingdom. It is only in the reason, in the spiritual nature, in the power to weigh evidence, to know the truth, that we find the real, essential and distinctive attributes of man. That gives him a quality different from all the other creatures in the universe.

The theory is that all men have the same kind of power to know some truth. In that they are all equal. They differ in degree. Some know much truth, some only a little. They are all equal in kind, yet they all differ in degree. We therefore perform different services and receive different rewards. But as men we are equal and entitled to equal rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness and equal votes in determining our own Government. CALVIN COOLIDGE.

THE RAILROADS' PLIGHT

From the Los Angeles Times.

The formal application to the Interstate Commerce Commission by the country's major railroad interests for higher freight rates makes a convincing showing of the need for a better financial set-up for the applicants. That the increased schedules prayed for would bring about this is not so clear.

In theory the requested rate increase of 15 per cent would augment the revenue of the carriers to a point sufficiently above their costs of operation to represent the reasonable profit—set at 4 per cent—necessary for their continued service. If business conditions were normal and transportation needs backed by active and prosperous industry, it would doubtless do so.

Unfortunately, business is not normal and industry is not active and prosperous. The condition of each is improving slowly. It is highly desirable that everything possible be done to accelerate that improvement and that nothing be done unnecessarily to check or discourage it.

Instead of increased revenue from the same business, the indications are that, for the present, higher freight rates might actually diminish railroad revenues by disproportionately reducing shipments. At the same time the higher rates would put an inequitable burden upon such industries as, for example, agriculture, which must employ rail transportation for its products whether it can afford to or not.

It seems fairly obvious that the railroads are entitled to some measure of relief from conditions which seriously threaten their continued existence as major elements of our industrial and economic structure. Every month sees a larger portion of their one-time revenue lost through the increasing competition of motor trucks, motor buses, private automobiles, passenger, express and mail airplanes, steamship lines and other modern agencies of transportation which take the cream of one-profitable carrier business and leave the skim milk for the railroads. Higher rates for the latter, incidentally, would make this competition still more damaging. There are still many types of highly essential service which only the roads can give and for the efficient rendering of which they must maintain their systems with full equipment and personnel. For this reason as well as because of the immense sums in widely distributed investment funds which their securities represent, it would be nothing less than a national economic catastrophe for the railroads to be crippled to the threatened point of receiverships or enforced Government operation. If such relief is not to come through increased rates it must obviously be through a further reduction of operating costs.

THE MARTINS.

The martins are peculiar and whimsical at best,
They're very charming tenants if with you they choose to nest;
But though the house you build for them may perfect seem to be
You can not coax they into it if something wrong they see.

I do not knew precisely what the martins ask from men;
I only know they like a house with rooms for eight or ten,
And it must stand above the ground full fourteen feet or more,
With unimpeded space about for them to wheel and soar.

The neighborhood must suit their choice; the gardens must be neat,
Nor will they stay to raise their young along a noisy street;
And many a man has built a house their fellowship to win
Which for some cause to him unknown, they would not enter in.

The scouts come on in early spring to look the houses o'er,
And if they do not like the place you'll see their charms no more;
But should the home their fancies suit, within a day or two
The martins will arrive to spend the summertime with you.

To Avoid Choosing the Wrong Fork, Choose None Until the Hostess Does.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THERE are few pastimes more absurd than argument.

And there are few experiences more humiliating than exposing one's ignorance.

The two activities may be distinct and separate, but people who habitually indulge in one seldom escape the other.

Argument is not discussion.

The primary object of discussion is to uncover the truth. When intelligent people with similar or contrary opinions begin a discussion, each presents his idea and the evidence to support it, as in argument; but both are willing to learn, and neither thinks the discussion a failure if he acquires knowledge.

Argument, on the contrary, is a contest in which neither of the adversaries desires to learn.

Each begins the contest with opinions and ideas full-formed and sanctified by his vanity, and his purpose is to defend these at any sacrifice of truth or logic while proving his adversary a simpleton.

Since the sole purpose of argument is the defeat of the opposition, facts and reason are disregarded when noise and personal insult seem more effective.

In the end neither contestant will admit defeat, lest he gratify the other; but the one in error is secretly convinced despite his stubborn denial, and the fact that he has exposed his ignorance and so vehemently defended it does cruel hurt to his vanity.

It is an experience commonly suffered by all who waste time in argument, but one easily avoided.

The way to avoid exposing your ignorance is to be always right.

If you are right and know that you are right, you can survive discussion or argument without loss of poise or temper, content in the knowledge that facts will prove you right in the end.

But how can you be always right?

By the simple expedient of keeping still and venturing no opinion at all unless you know what you are talking about.

You can't know everything, but you can keep still about things you don't know. And by making this a practice, you can have the assurance that no controversy ever will catch you in the wrong.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Hoover's Diagnosis.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Like any competent physician, the President takes some pains to diagnose the ailment of his patient before he prescribes a remedy. That is why his entrance into the 1932 campaign in his Indianapolis speech last night was almost devoid of "politics" and why it is a calm and lucid survey of the economic situation.

Sensing the mistrust of the public for political cures for depression, the President indicates his reliance on gradual recovery through a multitude of constructive steps, rather than the formulation of any comprehensive program of planning.

Realizing the hollow sound that glowing political promises would have, after the prosperity talk of 1928 and subsequent business slump, Mr. Hoover makes no promises, offers no remedies, in fact, says nothing beyond a reassuring confidence in the ultimate ability of the American people to pull themselves out of economic depression without important aid from Government.

The President's Tour.

Indianapolis News.

The President's tour of Indiana, Ohio and Illinois, and his journey to and from these States, brought him into contact with many people in an environment reflecting nearly all activities of American manufacturing, agriculture, transportation and communication. His progress, step by step, was reported throughout the country. His speeches were made available to millions. Although his trip included only one speech which might be construed as a discussion of national policies, there was a general feeling that the contacts involved afforded opportunities for appraising the sentiment of the people. The presidency is a symbol of the Federal Government, and the attitude of the people toward Mr. Hoover on this occasion was widely construed as reflecting public feeling about general conditions.

The World Looks Better.

Boston Transcript.

The Washingtonian "separate set of interests" for America has, in the minds of Europeans, been translated into the term "splendid isolation," but by President Hoover's proposal to postpone debt payments for a year we have been relieved—let us hope it will be forever—from the charge of cynical indifference to the welfare of all the rest of the world. The United States Treasury stands to lose more money by the suspension than any other. Yet the President's action will, we believe, be approved by the majority of the American people. It represents a sacrifice. None but the captious and the ineradicably hostile can accuse us of any ulterior motive of selfishness in making this proposition. At the same time, we believe that Mr. Young is right in characterizing the postponement of debt payments, if it be made, as the act of a wise creditor. If the world is to recover its prosperity after the most widespread business paralysis that has afflicted the modern world, a start has got to be made somewhere, and the United States, as the universal creditor, affords that hopeful point of departure by making the initial as well as the greatest sacrifice.

Hoover Already Chosen.

Manchester Union.

The gathering of young Republicans in Washington, and their formal endorsement of President Hoover, probably is a good thing for the purpose of letting the people know that the insurgents are not the only members of the party who have ideas and are able to express their views. It can not be, however, that there are any experienced politicians who think there is a remote doubt of Hoover's renomination, most decisively, if not unanimously. Hence it is scarcely to be expected that the assertions of the speakers at the meetings, of the President's strong hold on his party, provided any element of novelty for the general public.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

A Sailor Feels the Tragedy of Old Ironsides' Helplessness, and Offers Plan to Muster Crew.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The following, by the Associated Press, will be interesting reading to any old shell-backs who happen to see it:

OLD IRONSIDES' TRIP ABANDONED;
NAVY WITHOUT MEN TO SAIL FRIGATE.

It is hard to believe that the bright intelligent boys at the training stations, could not master every detail of taking in sail, and locate all the running gear, buntlines, clewlines, halliards and braces, within a week.

The old New York Nautical School ship, Saint Marys, was exactly the same rig as the Constitution. Boys of the first cruise class, who had never been to sea before, had their stations aloft, and were on blue water with only two or three days experience in many cases. There should be not less than 50 boys in each watch, which would properly man all yards. Single topsails are large, and require a full yardarm to roll them up. This would be an educational trip for the boys, and a real show for the people who want to see the ship. When once you have seen the topsail settle in their slings exactly at the same time, with buntlines and clewlines hauled taut, and then all rigging full of active sailors, you have seen a fine physical exhibition. Where once was billowing yards of sail, now the trim yards, with neatly folded canvas, and the black cross harbor gasket over the bunt.

Now who's going to sail the ship. No doubt, that's the whole trouble. The naval officer of today has a man-sized job keeping up with his profession, and the handling of square-rigged sailing vessels would not make him more valuable to the service. To properly trim a yard, and safely carry sail according to the weather, is not learned in a day. However, this is a minor detail. There must be some of the old New York Nautical School ship boys who learned their trade in sail, before going into steam. One could sail as a guest, or the Navy Department might find a way to take him on temporarily as a civilian employe, sailing master.

Sailing up the Potomac, would be a waste of time, unless the wind continued just right. However, it has been done. There is a sad chapter in the United States history that tells how the British sailed up the Potomac in square riggers, and burned the White House.

Where is there a record of an authorized uniform for the sailor of 1812? A blue jacket, black varnished hat, and white canvas trousers, none of them exactly uniform, seemed to prevail. The Marines wore regular uniforms, and fought with muskets. The sailors manned the batteries, and when boarding the enemy, used boarding pike and cutlass. There would be no necessity of putting the entire crew in something resembling an 1812 uniform. A few here and there to show visitors around in port would be sufficient. C. A. LOCKE.

Attorney Jones Sees Judges Chosen for Their Religion, and Not for Real Qualifications.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In last Sunday's Post appeared an article to the effect that there is a "determined movement" to have President Hoover "appoint a Catholic Democrat to the vacancy caused by the death of Justice Siddons;" that while there are Democrats on the bench, there are no Catholic Democrats, hence the "determined movement" aforementioned.

This "movement" will surely appeal to thinking Americans and particularly to President Hoover as an admirable precedent to establish. Hereafter judges will be selected on the novel basis of politics and religion. Knowledge of the law, impartiality, temperament, industry and character will be relegated to the rear as attributes of no particular importance. We shall have Methodist, Baptist, Catholic, Ku Klux, Morman, Jewish, Quaker, Christian Science, Zionist, Unitarian, Buddhist and Holy Roller jurists, if the number of benches holds out.

The American Bar Association, long strong advocates of a high standard for judges, will doubtless receive this brilliant "determined movement" with loud cheers as a step in the right direction. And what an irresistible appeal to the President!

CHARLES W. JONES.

Pass Judgment on Divine Law?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Dr. MacIntosh at Yale wants our Supreme Court to reopen his case, hoping that a reversal may follow. He wants to decide for himself whether any war in which this country may be dragged—for we never go to war otherwise—is a righteous war, and then whether he will join in its defense.

Being a minister of the gospel, he knows that the Savior of men said, when upon earth, "Ye can not serve God and mammon," and that the whole trend of scriptural teaching is that you must be completely a child of God, or you are "lost." No option is given to selected ones, permitting them to decide what is and what is not sin, in any circumstances. A law that has stood since it was promulgated still stands, and he has no doubt subscribed to it, and probably without request that he be allowed to interpose a conscientious objection, whenever he wished to do so.

The laws of this country have been made, under the Constitution, for the general good, and when people come to us from other lands they are required to accept them or stay out. In other words "Ye can not serve two masters," in religion or in citizenship. It is a square deal, and when we begin to make exceptions there is no place to stop—the Constitution, in spirit, in mind. Whole-hearted acquiescence in this case, as in all others, is the one rule. AMERICAN.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Davis Seen Coming Back As Senator

Governor of Philippines May Try for Toga From Missouri.

FROM the things that dreams are made of rises the pleasant possibility that Washington at not too distant date may welcome again the delightful family of Mr. Dwight F. Davis, Governor General of the Philippines, whose resignation, offered to the President yesterday gives rise to speculation regarding the "aircastles" in the back of Mr. Davis' mind. That he has aspirations for the Senate is no secret; that the voters of Missouri might be amenable to the idea of rewarding their native son with the Republican seat in the upper house is altogether probable; that Mr. Davis might win the toga is also possible. All of which would bring the family back to the Capital.

Although Mrs. Davis and their daughter, Miss Alice Davis, the little first lady of the Philippines, are still in Europe, where they have been through the winter and expect to remain during the summer, their return to the Capital would be practically assured if President Hoover accepts the Governor General's resignation. For Mr. Davis' wish is again to take up his residence in the United States after two years in the Manila post. Owing to Mrs. Davis' ill health she never has been able to fill the position of the "governor's lady" and has spent much of her time abroad or in the South since Mr. Davis' inauguration July 8, 1929.

When Miss Alice Davis came on from the Philippines nearly a year ago to accompany her mother abroad her place as hostess in the Manila "white house" was taken by Miss Cynthia Davis, whose success has been widely heralded and whose journeyings in the Pacific islands during the past winter has read like a tale from "Alice in Wonderland." And now, sailing the Pacific, Manila-bound is Miss Helen Davis, school girl daughter of the family, whose departure from Washington is a matter of but a few weeks ago, following the close of the Foxcroft School in Virginia.

The residence of the Davis family in Washington dates back to the Coolidge administration when Mr. Davis served as Secretary of War. Esconced in the house owned by Mrs. Thomas Gaff at Twentieth and Q streets the Davis's entertained royally and it was there that Miss Alice Davis made her debut. With Mrs. Gaff's continued residence in Bermuda the house later was occupied by Mr. Claudius Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee, and his daughters.

With the appointment of Mr. Davis as governor general of the Philippines it was deemed inadvisable for Mrs. Davis to live in that climate and Alice Davis accompanied her father to the Far East to act as hostess, her mother and younger sisters taking the house on Massachusetts avenue owned by Brig. Gen. William E. Crozier, retired, and Mrs. Crozier, where they lived for one winter. Miss Cynthia Davis did not make her formal debut that winter but "played around" with the debutantes and smart younger set of the Capital.

Szchenyi Joins Newport Colony.

Count Laszlo Szchenyi, Minister of Hungary, arrived at Newport yesterday and will pass the season with Countess Szechenyi and her mother, Mrs. Vanderbilt, at the Breakers. Baron Paul Schell, Attache, and Mr. Nichols de Vegh, Counselor, also have gone to Newport.

The former United States Ambassador to Italy, Mr. Richard Washburn Child, is also at Newport for the season. He will occupy his villa in Greenough place. Former Ambassador to Germany and Mrs. James W. Gerard will be the guests for a time of Mr. and Mrs. William Fitzhugh Whitehouse at Stone Villa.

Mr. James M. Doran, commissioner of industrial alcohol, sailed yesterday on the Ile de France for Europe. Also sailing on the ship were Lieut. Comdr. John H. Magruder, naval attache at The Hague, and Mrs. Magruder.

Former Peggy Watson Is Off For Morocco

Duchess de Nemours Goes With Royal Husband to Sheep Ranch.

The Duke and Duchess de Nemours (the latter was Miss Peggy Watson, of Washington) have left Paris for Morocco, where the duke owns a sheep ranch. With the death of his father, Prince Philippe, Duke de Vendome et D'Alencou last winter, the Duke de Nemours became pretender to the throne of France.

As Miss Peggy Watson, the Duchess is well known in Washington where she grew up, having attended the Eastman School. She lived here until her marriage two years ago, although she had until that time made frequent visits to Paris, where she met and married Prince Charles Philippe, Duke de Nemours, only son and heir of Prince Philippe.

Mrs. Benney will return to Washington the end of the week from her former home in Baltimore with her infant daughter, Ann Elizabeth, and will go straight to the country.

Miss Nancy Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ellwood Jones, returned to Washington yesterday after passing the week-end at Taft School, where she atended the commencement dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Distler will close their apartment at 2101 Connecticut avenue and leave tomorrow with their two children for Westhampton, Long Island, where they have taken a cottage for the summer.

Mr. Silas H. Strawn of Chicago, arrived in Washington yesterday, and is now a guest at the Shoreham Hotel.

Party Honors Sigma Epsilon Delegates Here

Bridge Luncheon Given by Grand Council of Sorority.

A luncheon and bridge in honor of the chapter delegates and visiting guests to the Sigma Epsilon National Sorority's annual convention was given by the members of the grand council yesterday afternoon in the palm ccurt of the Mayflower Hotel, when Miss Helene Page, grand chancellor, was hostess. She was assisted by the other members of the grand council, Mrs. Ethel Schaefer, grand secretary; Mrs. Mildred Peterson, grand treasurer and Miss Olive Murphy, grand custodian.

The convention started Sunday afternoon with a formal tea at the Mayflower Hotel, convention headquarters. Monday a luncheon and swiming party took place at the Wardman Park Hotel, when Miss Dorothy Page was in charge of arrangements. Tuesday morning was spent sight-seeing and visiting the varoous spots of interest in the city.

The convention will continue until tonight, and will be closed officially at a banquet and dance in the Italian garden of the Mayflower Hotel, when the new grand council members, yet to be elected, will be installed and the above-mentioned officers will retire.

Mme. Tellez, wife of the Ambassador of Mexico, and her children will not return to Washington from Mexico until the fall. The ambassador has returned after spending several weeks there.

The retiring Ambassador of Argentina, Dr. Manuel E. Malbran, who will sail Saturday for his home, will be the guest at luncheon today of his colleagues on the governing board of the Pan-American Union. The luncheon will be served in the Hall of Flags of the Pan-American Building.

Mrs. Pendleton Mayo entertained at dinner last evening at her home in Georgetown for her daughter, Miss Charlotte Mayo, in celebration of the latter's birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Arrives in Paris.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson reached Paris on Tuesday after crossing from New York on the Leviathan, en route to Poland to attend the ceremonies in connection with the unveiling of a statue to President Wilson.

Mrs. Wilson was met in the French capital by a member of the American Embassy staff, and after a brief rest will proceed to Poland.

Mrs. Edwin B. Parker, widow of Judge Parker, and her sister, Mrs. James H. Gilpatrick, are in New York for a few days' visit. Mrs. Parker is planning to sail the first week in August to spend two and a half months in England, Ireland and Scotland. She will be accompanied by Miss Elsa F. Peterson.

Among those who entertained at dinner last evening on the Shoreham Terrace were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Walker, who had as their guests Representative and Mrs. Royal C. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Creighton; Mr. and Mrs. Jennings Bailey, who entertained for fourteen guests; Maj. R. A. Ellis, Miss Julia Donahue, whose guests included Dr. and Mrs. John F. Preston, Dr. and Mrs. William M. Ballinger, Mrs. John Gregg, of Statesville, N. C., and Dr. O. H. Hite; Mrs. Lucien A. Clark entertained a company at luncheon yesterday at the Shoreham.

Mr. W. A. Wax, of Genoa, Italy, who is on a pleasure tour of the United States, has arrived at the Carlton, where he will remain for about one week. From Washington Mr. Wax will go to the West Coast, returning by way of Canada and Chicago to New York, from which port he will sail for Italy on the Conte Grande on July 15.

The Charge d'Affaires of the Chinese Legation and Mme. Yung Kwai will accompany the retiring Minister and Mme. Wu, who are leaving Washington today, as far as Olney Inn, where the party will have a farewell breakfast. Other guests will be members of the legation staff.

Mr. W. L. Clark, of Philadelphia, has arrived in Washington for a visit and is staying at the Potomac Park apartments.

Miss Robinson Becomes Bride Of Mr. Ward

Pretty Ceremony Is Held in Columbia Heights Christian Church.

The wedding of Miss Thelma Louise Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noah R. Robinson, of Indian Spring Park, Md., to Mr. Linley Kent Ward, of Hagerstown, Md., formerly of Newport News, Va., took place last evening at 8 o'clock at the Columbia Heights Christian Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Harvey Baker Smith, with the Rev. D. H. Melton assisting. The church was decorated with palms and ferns and summer flowers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a robe de style of white satin with a full skirt and no train. Her veil of tulle fell from a cap of lace and seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Nina May Robinson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a frock of pink mousseline de soie with a fitted bodice and a full ruffled skirt. Her sash was of velvet to match the frock and she wore a band of velvet in her hair. She carried a bouquet of summer flowers.

The bridesmaids were Miss Helen May Borland, Miss Mary Louise Ruff, Miss Eva Maid Murray and Mrs. Betty Nestor. They wore frocks of chiffon with fitted bodices and long, full ruffled skirts, each in a different pastel shade of peach, yellow, green and orchid, and carried bouquets of mixed flowers. Frances Lee Wilcox was the flower girl and wore a frock of pale green ruffled organdie and carried a basket of flowers.

Mr. Jons C. Allen, of Washington, was the best man and the ushers were Mr. Stanley Ward, brother of the bridegroom; Mr. Harlan Jessup, of Swathmore, Pa.; Mr. John G. Volz, of Baltimore, and Mr. James Nurney, of Washington.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, when she was assisted in receiving by Mrs. J. Ward Eicher and Mrs. Robert Pollock. Mrs. Robinson, mother of the bride, wore a gown of beige lace and Mrs. Ward, mother of the bridegroom, wore black chiffon.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Ward left for a motor trip through the South to Macon, Ga., the bride wearing a navy blue crepe suit with beige accessories. After July 15, they will be at home in Hagerstown, Md.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. Claude Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ward, Mrs. Mattie Osborne, Mr. L. U. Noland, all of Newport News; Mr. and Mrs. T. Maribel, of Evansville, Ind., and Mrs. T. G. Willis, of Washington, N. C.

Capt. and Mrs. Adolphus Andrews, accompanied by their two children, Adolphus, jr., and Frances, have left for Newport, where they will spend the summer.

Colony Taken By Rineharts In Bay State

Several Cottages Needed to House Families in South Dartmouth.

Dr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Rinehart will leave Sunday for Massachusetts, where they will be established for the summer at South Dartmouth, having taken a cottage, in fact, as Dr. Rinehart suggested, "having taken over a colony of cottages."

For their three sons, Mr. Frederick Rinehart, Mr. Stanley M. Rinehart, jr., and Mr. Alan Rinehart, with their families, have elected to summer at South Dartmouth and will go this month to the North. The small resort was selected owing to its easy access from New York where the three Rinehart "boys" are in business.

Mrs. Rinehart (Mary Roberts Rinehart) has nearly regained her health following an operation late in the spring. She has been at her home on Massachusetts avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Norment will close their house on Wyoming avenue in July and will sail from New York July 16 for Europe, where they will spend some time in England and France. While in England Mrs. Norment will visit with her mother at her former home there and will then go to Paris to join Mr. Norment.

Senator and Mrs. Royal S. Copeland have as their guests at their sumer home in Suffern, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Grosner, of Massachusetts Avenue Park.

Convert your furnace now to Automatic Gas Heat

$185 Will put JANITROL in your home

For a limited time the price of Janitrol has been reduced from $200 to $185 if purchased NOW, for immediate installation.

This reduction is limited to the first 200 Janitrols sold during summer months. A small down payment AND NO FURTHER PAYMENTS UNTIL NEXT SEPTEMBER are terms also included in this offer while it lasts. There are no finance charges.

For those who install Janitrol now, it will mean not only a saving in money, but the avoidance of possible delay in the fall. At the beginning of the heating season last year, so many homes turned to gas for heating that it taxed our installation facilities to handle the job in the proper time. We have made this reduction so that a number of people who contemplate gas heat next year will install now before the fall rush.

Your present furnace can be converted to gas heat with a Janitrol Gas Conversion Burner in a single day without inconvenience to you. Next fall, when it again comes time to heat your home, there will be no furnace tending or ash cans to contend with. Just constant, even heat, automatically regulated by a small thermostat.

Why not be among the 200 to take advantage of this offer? Phone NAtional 8280, the House-heating Department, for an estimate of what gas heat would cost for your particular home. Or see your heating contractor. There is no obligation.

THE electrio, a group of etherwave instruments developed by Prof. Leon Theremin, will be presented over the air tonight. Two of these instruments have never been heard before outside the laboratory. The third is the space control theremin, which the musician plays simply by waving his hands, introduced about two years ago.

The two instruments are operated similarly to the cello and the piano. All three are said to have purity of tone and a wide musical range.

Three musicians who have worked closely with the inventor in developing the instruments will play them in the broadcast. The electrio will be supported by Don Voorhees Orchestra (WJZ network, 8:30 p. m.).

Holder of the world's heavyweight championship title, Max Schmeling, of Germany, will speak over WRC tomorrow night during a half-hour program from his training camp in Pennsylvania.

THE world may listen to an international radio Rotary Club meeting between the Schenectady and the Melbourne, Australia Rotary clubs when NBC attempts to pick up and rebroadcast the proceedings (WRC, 6 p. m.). The Schenectady Club will be having breakfast while the Melbourne Club will be holding 9 o'clock dinner.

An account of the Ryder Cup golf matches will be given by Ted Husing today (WMAL, 4 p. m.) and tomorrow. WEAF network will broadcast a resume at 5:45 p. m., but not over WRC, because of "The Stebbins Boys."

Columbia's new Irish tenor, John Kelvin, will be presented in a program of Irish ballads tomorrow afternoon (WMAL, 4:30 o'clock).

Radio is to the farmer what the stock ticker is to the broker, according to Frank E. Mullen, agriculture director of the NBC. Timely information on markets, weather and improved farm methods as heard on the National Farm and Home Hour represent dollars and cents to farmers, Mullen said, particularly in this period of low profit and careful management.

Winner of the contest for essays on public health conducted by the President Gorgas Memorial Institute among high school students throughout the country, Helen Dale, of San Diego, Calif., will be introduced over WRC tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. The purpose of the contest will be explained during the broadcast by Admiral Cary T. Grayson.

IN spite of the adverse criticism which WMAL has received on previous similar occasions, the station continues to show utter disregard of the listener by cutting off half-finished programs without a word of explanation. The latest instance is the way the Nit Wit Hour was switched off for an electrical transcription, which could have been made to fit some other period just as well, on Monday night.

If WMAL knows it can not conclude an offering of this type, it should forego the whole half hour. However, if it has no other alternative, then the listening public is certainly due an apology and the explanation that the program is being continued over WABC and affiliated stations.

Another recent mixup of the sort, although this was the fault of Columbia and not WMAL, was the bungling of the description of the annual crew races at Poughkeepsie last week. After Husing talked three hours about the preliminary races and the regatta in general, Columbia waited until the crews were in position at the starting line, then switched to Kate Smith, a sustaining feature.

Frances Langford, Southern songstress, will appear as guest artist with Rudy Vallee's orchestra tonight.

Tenor Ben Alley has a letter from a woman in a small Scotch town who says his name is a household word there. The MacTavishes and the McNabs get his programs clearly over the waves of W2XE, CBS short wave outlet.

A WELSHMAN of perfect candor, writing Station W2XAF, said:

"I'm not really keen on you Yankees as a nation, but I must admit your wireless programs are the goods."

After expressing a decided preference for the commercially sponsored program over the offerings of the British Broadcasting Corporation, he added:

"And the irony of it is that I must pay 10 shillings to my government to hear Yankee programs."

Delightful little suit of green wool crepe, with a two-toned green printed crepe de chine blouse. (Courtesy of Redfern, Paris.)

New York, June 24.

HERE'S good news for you lovely ladies who just love velvet, whatever the season! Thousands of short velvet coats have sprung into view at fashion resorts. They are made of black or colored velvet for utility or evening wear, and come, with equal smartness in short, long and hip length. They wrap around, or are worn unfastened; they are lined and unlined!

And further good news for you velvet lovers is that its use isn't confined to any particular occasion, or accompanying material. It is worn with pajamas, sports frocks, organdie, net, silk and wool mixtures, linen and chiffon. An adorable use of velvet is to accentuate the strong color of a vivid print by a quaint, brilliant coatee. The flaring taffeta frocks of the day just do not seem complete without little velvet jacquettes! 'N' for our very demure, youthful ladies, the little, perky jackets with ruffled necklines and snugly fitting peplums call for poke bonnet hats of soft straw, with tiny shirred velvet crowns and wee velvet flowers—and the result is nothing short of devastating!

And the sports world has claimed Lyons velvet for its own, and tailored stunning sports clothes for those of us who would take even our sports differently. Slightly less popular, but very smart when it is seen is corduroy in bright colors, used to trim sports togs in unusual ways.

Oh, velvet is, as ever, charming—and practical even in hot weather! Lovely chiffon velvet is as cool as any summer fabric, and any crushing can be removed by steaming. O-o-o—why not?

* * * *

Want to see a cute little suit? Wel-l-l-l, here it is, all sketched for you today to show its delightful charm, but, unfortunately, not its delightful color! This suit is from Redfern, of dull green light-weight wool crepe, adorable with its little skirt godets that flare abruptly below the knee, and little jacket-hem godets that flare the coat out in a perky peplum around the hips! A large part of the jacket's chic is due, too, to the incrusted, scalloped collar and the incrustations down the front opening. The tuck-in blouse with its double jabot, is of crepe de chine, printed in two shades of vivid green.

A little suit of this sort in your wardrobe would solve many morning and luncheon problems! And anyhow, even if you never used it, it would be quite irresistible just to look at!

* * * *

A bit of lace, a dainty circle of hand crocheting, a few inches of silk elastic—'n' here's another one of those what have you's? Wel-l-l-l, you have a backless brassiere, so small and dainty and lovely that you just wouldn't believe it would be good for anything, until you put it on! 'N' then, you'll believe in miracles again! Better hurry and send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet telling you all about this brassiere, which is the very thing you've been looking for to wear under your bathing suit and your backless evening gown!

We know you'll always find something interesting in the weekly Dare fashion letter. Look for it in each Sunday's big Washington Post.

Au revoir!

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

I HAVE a Japanese cherry tree, the leaves of which seem to be covered with a form of mold. What do you advise? MRS. GEORGE R.

Spray foliage with Bordeaux mixture.

Please tell me what to do to improve the condition of my pandanus. I water it once a week, as it requires little moisture.

MRS. WILLIAM C. B.

Your pandanus is suffering from want of water. Better give the plant a sufficient quantity to moisten all the soil in the pot three times a week.

I have a palm planted in a pottery dish. It is surrounded with ferns with leaves like the one inclosed. Would these plants do better in separate containers? The ferns are becoming less healthy. I keep dish in a sunny window for a few hours each day and water it every morning. Please do not recommend planting it in the open, as I live in an apartment.

H. S.

Better separate and plant in regular flower pots, which have holes which permit the surplus water to run off. Keep fern, which is a holly variety, in a north window or in a place where it has only the morning sun. Keep the palm in any sunny place. Sponge the foliage of the palm tree twice a week and spray the foliage of the ferns every time you water the plant. Give both plants sufficient water to moisten all the soil in the pot once a day.

Please tell me the name of the plant from which the inclosed leaf was taken. Also tell me what to do with the geraniums I took up in the fall and put in a window box, where they have grown to the height of four feet but never bloomed.

ALICE C. H.

The leaf you inclosed resembled the leaf of a marigold. Better make cuttings from the terminal shoots of your geraniums, then plant the old plants in a sunny place in your garden. Removing the ends of the branches will start the plants into growth. They will likely bloom profusely after their long winter rest.

I have a beautiful lemon verbena. Will this do well in a window-box or would it be better to plant it in the open ground? MADGE McM.

You may plant it either place, but it must have plenty of sun.

Please describe a garland flower.

HANNAH R. T.

The garland flower (daphne cneorum) is a little evergreen which has become popular within the last few years, due to the beautiful pink color and pleasing fragrance of its blossoms. It blooms in May and again in late fall. Sometimes you can even pick the flowers in December. While it grows only a foot tall, its spreads over a space of two and one-half feet.

Please tell me how to plant Siberian iris, also the Japanese varieties.

JULIA R. E.

Plant both these varieties of iris as you would any perennial in a clump, work in plenty of well-rotted manure, but use no lime. If the ground is dry, water them when you have the roots in place and the cavity half full of soil. Then when all the soil is in place, water them again. These varieties all like a cool, moist soil.

Please tell me something about the general care of irises. I have just moved into a house with a path of these plants possibly fifty feet long. They border a walk on both sides. They are only just coming into bloom. The man from whom we rented the property said the plants were attacked by rot and should be lifted after they had finished blooming. Do you agree with him?

FREDERICK G. T.

Yes. The only thing to do is to lift the roots and remove the rotted portion, then disinfect the rhizomes by dipping each one in 4 per cent solution of formalin before replanting. At the same time keep a close lookout for borers. When they are present, remove them.

Culbertson on Contract

By Ely Culbertson
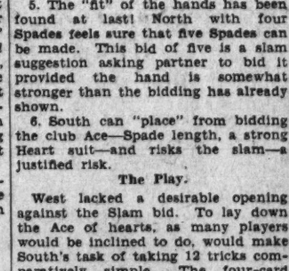
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

THE SENSE OF PERILS OVERCOME.

HUMAN nature loves danger skillfully calculated and overcome. Tranquillity palls. This is one of the fundamental reasons for the great popularity of competitive games, such as most athletic contests and such as intellectual recreations typifying an intellectual struggle like Contract.

This is also one of the reasons why the general bidding of four-card suits (in preference to notrump), when introduced by the writer several years ago, gained such rapid and general acceptance. Of course, we want our perils marked. We like to have the rocks of distribution buoyed so that we may know a little about just where we should study our chart most closely. The writer found it necessary to safeguard the bidding of four-card suits by providing that they should not be supported with less trump strength than four small or an honor as good as the Queen and two small. Even so, there may be five or six trumps outstanding, with the chances of an unfavorable break. The four-card suit bid still furnishes its thrill. One adversary may hold four or even five of the trumps bunched in his hand.

From Baltimore comes the hand which furnished the text of today's article. South dealt these cards:



The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♦	Pass	2 ♥ (1)	Pass
3 ♦ (2)	Pass	3 ♥ (3)	Pass
3 ♠ (4)	Pass	5 ♠ (5)	Pass
6 ♠ (6)	Pass	Pass	Pass

1. North, holding three one-half honor tricks, makes a forcing or jump takeout. This commits the partnership to continuing the bidding until a game contract or a penalty double is reached.

2. While South's hand is far above the minimum bidding strength, he does not make the Spade response as he is assured of another opportunity to bid by reason of his partner's forcing takeout. He first rebids his six-card Diamond suit before showing his biddable four-card Spade suit.

3. North, holding four sure tricks in trumps, first rebids his Heart suit. A jump or forcing two Heart bid by North shows game strength and both partners are now assured that the bidding will not be dropped below a game contract, hence the leisurely but deliberate manner of unfolding the information.

4. South now bids his Spades. The bidding of the four-card suit at this range of the game is quite safe, as he had previously bid his Diamonds twice.

5. The "fit" of the hands has been found at last! North with four Spades feels sure that five Spades can be made. This bid of five is a slam suggestion asking partner to bid it provided the hand is somewhat stronger than the bidding has already shown.

6. South can "place" from bidding the club Ace—Spade length, a strong Heart suit—and risks the slam—a justified risk.

The Play.

West lacked a desirable opening against the Slam bid. To lay down the Ace of hearts, as many players would be inclined to do, would make South's task of taking 12 tricks comparatively simple. The four-card suit, due to its tenace holding, is also undesirable. The opening of the diamond suit, bid by South, inasmuch as West holds a stopper in that suit, is weak, but to lead the spade, through possible spade tricks in East's hand, is unthinkable. A small club was chosen as the least of evils. South refused the finesse. It was apparent that a finesse must be taken in the trump suit and to take the club finesse at once would result in disaster, should the club Queen win and the spade King be found in West's hand. The club King was played and a low spade was led and the finesse won.

South now laid down Ace and King of diamonds and trumped the third lead in dummy. The diamond suit must be established and the work of suit establishment and drawing opponent's trumps was carried on simultaneously.

The second lead of spades shows that South has found about as bad a split as possible. West had no more trumps. However, the law of compensation operated to his advantage in that the diamonds "broke."

East held two spades, the King and the 7. South still has the Ace and Queen and in the dummy there remained the 9.

South reviewed the play and recalled that West's opening lead was the club deuce. This could not have been a singleton lead, and was probably fourth best, leaving with East two more clubs. The club finesse became entirely immaterial. South led a club going up with the Ace and led Dummy's last spade through East's tenace. The last spade was drawn and South then ran down his established diamonds, conceding a club trick at the end.

YOUR NAME — WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph. D.

THE family name "Fuller" is found in the earliest English records.

It is derived from the French verb "fouler," and means "the one who tramples." It denotes the occupation of the persons who were first so called, since the fullers were those who trampled on cloth as a part of the early crude method of manufacture. English documents of the thirteenth century mention a certain Gilbert le Fuller and an Ambrose le Fullur.

The family name "Tucker" is especially common in the western part of England, being very strongly represented in Devonshire, Wiltshire and Dorsetshire. The source of this name is the Middle English "toukere" (also spelled "tukere" and "tokker") which is derived from the French verb "toquer." "Toquer" (modern "toucher") means "to touch," but it also has such secondary meaning as "to beat," "to knock" and "to trample." Whereas there is evidence that the occupation of the tucker sometimes differed somewhat from that of the walker and the fuller, the three names came finally to be used in the same sense, and designated a person who trampled on cloth. Early instances of this name in English records are Roger le Tukere (1273) and Percival le Toukere (1301). A common late variation of "Tucker" is "Tuckerman," which appears to be first recorded in 1660.

The family name "Petty" (also written "Pettey" and "Pettys") is merely a variation of "Petit." "Petit" (also spelled "Petitte") is of French origin, and means "small." It was originally given as a nickname. In the United States and Canada some families have adopted the spelling "Pettee" as a preferable form. An English document of the year 1379 includes the names of Robertus Pettyson, Richard Peteson and Robertus Pety.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"CANCER."

If June 25 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:50 a. m. to 10:55 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. and from 7:10 p. m. to 9:05 p. m. The danger hours are from 11:10 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. and from 4:30 p. m. to 6:45 p. m.

June 25, from an astrological standpoint, foretells unexpected changes, most of which will conduce to a betterment of conditions. Those, who, in spite of the portents, persist in sticking to customs clothed in tradition will lose out in the long run. The winners will be those who accommodate their views to the exigencies of circumstances.

The child born on this June 25 will, after a normal infancy, develop into a strong, forceful adult. It will possess marked ability, and should be encouraged to specialize, rather than to diversify, its efforts. The stars predict that it will be successful in a material way. Affectionate and not afraid to show it.

Born on June 25, you are active and possess great capacity for work. You never waste your energy, and although never idle, your efforts are all bent toward a settled aim and a definite object. You never tilt at windmills.

Your circle of friends is a wide one and this is largely attributable to the fact that, be you man or woman, you know how to, and can keep a secret; no confidence reposed in you is ever divulged or betrayed. Your loyalty and sincerity are invaluable assets in your make-up. At times moods possess you, when pessimism and disappointment reign supreme. At such times you are generally wise enough to fight it out with yourself.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

A LEAD POISONING SIGNPOST.

THE man who has learned a trade that exposes him to lead, and who is intelligent and mentally alert, is constantly between two urges. His fear of lead poisoning makes him feel that he ought to learn another trade. The need of making a living for himself and his family tells him to stick to the work he knows.

Take a painter, for illustration. He has a friend who is subject to lead colic and another friend died from lead poisoning. He is afraid. He almost decides to quit painting, move to the suburbs and raise chickens. Then he thinks of the shoes the children need, and he decides to stick it out and take the chances.

Or, the case of a manufacturer. He is afraid that a lot of his workmen will develop lead poisoning and come after him for compensation. He would like to change his process to a safer one. But then he thinks: I know this process, what I can do with it, how I can operate my business using it with a profit. If I change I might not be able to make a go of it.

Both employe and employer would like to know some sign by which they could be warned of danger. Dr. Carey P. McCord has devised one. By its use a man exposed to lead can tell that he is headed for trouble some time before he gets to the danger point. It is a block signal system saying: "Look out! There is a train on this track down the road a piece." Or: "Stop! There is a train on this track around the next curve."

This block signal system for use in the prevention of lead collisions is a blood-testing method. It can be applied by any laboratory or by any physician with laboratory facilities. A factory could easily provide such a laboratory and operate it at a reasonable cost. The more difficult problem will be to get employes to have the blood test made once or twice a month. Less than a drop of blood is required for the test. The blood, properly prepared, can be shipped to a laboratory for testing.

A small drop of blood is smeared thinly on a microscope slide. This is dried in the air. The dried blood is stained with a weak solution of methylene blue and borax in water (2 parts dye, 5 parts pure borax and 2,000 parts water). After dyeing, washing and drying the specimen of blood is examined under the microscope. A count is made of what is called the basophilic granulations. If these are in excess it means that the person examined is absorbing lead into his blood stream.

'GOOD-WILL ENVOYS' ARRIVE IN ENGLAND

Group of Young Americans Welcomed at Plymouth by Lord Mayor.

Special to The Washington Post.

Plymouth, England, June 24.—Following an ideal passage, enhanced by perfect weather, a group of young Americans, "Envoys of Friendship," sponsored by the United States Flag Association, reached Plymouth today and was heartily welcomed by the lord mayor and other preminent persons at a public reception in the Guildhall. The arrival of these young "envoys," coming to England to present a message of good will and friendship to the children of England on behalf of the youth of the United States, came at a fortuitous moment in view of the friendly suggestion received from President Hoover, of a moratorium on all war debts.

Following the reception in the Guildhall, the "envoys" were photographed standing on the famous rock at Plymouth, which marks the spot from which the Pilgrim fathers sailed for far-off America so many years ago, and the photographs were sent to all leading newspapers of Great Britain.

Group Thrilled by Arrival.

The visiting "cousins" expressed themselves as thrilled at being on English soil on their present errand and were delighted at a radiogram of welcome received aboard ship from Lady Astor while approaching Plymouth. They leave for London tonight.

Universal interest has been excited in the visit of these school boys and girls because of their mission. Representing the youth of America, they have come to Great Britain and are going to France to build up a lasting friendship among the children of the world of today, who will be the rulers of tomorrow. In view of President Hoover's moratorium suggestion, to which Great Britain has agreed, the presence of these members of the younger generation of Americans is held as a happy omen of things to come.

Two Washingtonians in Party.

The children, whose ages range from 14 to 18 years, are of the highest type of young American manhood and womanhood and the British public is keenly interested in the wide interest these youngsters show in British affairs. They are accompanied by Col. James A. Moss, president general of the United States Flag Association, which sponsored the trip, and which is responsible for the plan to build future world friendships through the establishment of friendly relations among the children of today. In the party also are Miss Effie Jane Buell, chaperone, Dr. Paul H. Watson, staff physician, and Mrs. Hattie M. Strong, honorary chaperone.

Miss Dorothy Skirm and Thomas J. Hayes 3d are the Washington representative in the goodwill group, having been selected in the contest conducted by the flag association in cooperation with the Washington Post.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

A simple one-piece dress that wee moderns will be very happy to wear.

It's so lovely and cool and comfy in its simple styling.

Sheer dimity in yellow ground with white dots fashions this cunning dress. The flared bordered hem and bows are plain yellow dimity.

And it's so inexpensive. For the 4 year old, 1 yard of 27-inch print and ¾ yard of 32-inch plain material is sufficient.

Style No. 709 comes in sizes 2, 4 and 6 years.

Nile green organdie, sprigged dimity, red and white printed batiste, blue and white checked gingham, pink dotted swiss, pale blue linen and candy striped cotton broadcloth print are darling selections for this practical model.

Franco Must Stop Propaganda by Air

Ordered to Cease Dropping Demands for "Real" Revolution.

Madrid, June 24 (A.P.).—The minister of interior today ordered Maj. Ramon Franco, one of Spain's best known fliers, to stop distributing election propaganda by air.

The order followed three speeches in which Franco called for "a real revolution," abolition of salaries, distribution of properties and wealth and even abolition of salaries in the army, the air corps of which he commands.

Maj. Franco is held to have violated a ruling which prohibits active officers from making political assertions.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL.

At last Earl Carroll has betrayed an inclination to make it easier for the critics in formulating further plans for the conduct and equipment of his new Earl Carroll Theater, to open in New York with the ninth edition of his "Vanities" in late August.

Believing that intelligent comprehension of the performance contributes to the enjoyment of a show, Mr. Carroll will provide program lights on the backs of the seats in his new playhouse. By the pressing of a button the spectator may, with ease, read the program at any time. The hood of the light, deflecting all rays downward, will prevent the distraction of those seated to the rear of the lights in use.

First, of course, it will be necessary to catch your program—a topic upon which Dr. Carroll is strangely silent.

As a further adjunct to program comprehension, there will be an indicator in plain view of the entire audience. Upon this indicator at all times will be flashed the number of the scene in progress. This is where Mr. Carroll's thoughtfulness for the critical fraternity comes in—and would you care for a preposition to end the sentence with?

Imagine being able to wake up at any time and know in a minute precisely where you're at!

Due to the unabating interest that is being displayed by both children and their adults in Buster Shaver's "Tiny Town Revue," currently headlining the vaudeville bill at the Earle Theater, I am informed that the six midget entertainers will greet their admirers in person in the mezzanine lounge of the theater today and tomorrow.

Olive Brasno, the beautiful little miniature star of the troupe, and her associates will be glad to meet and talk with their friends for one hour, from 2 to 3 o'clock, this and tomorrow afternoons. No other opportunities will be afforded the public to meet them.

Above everything else, Fred Waring, who comes to the Palace Saturday with his Pennsylvanians, is loyal to his band. Having started it with his brother Tom, "Poly" McClintock, the drummer, and Fred Buck, banjoist, now convalescing at Saranac, as an instrumental quartet playing for dances at Penn State, he has developed it to its present high rating among the foremost of the popular stage bands both in this country and abroad.

But what I started to say was that immediately following the run of "The New Yorkers" on Broadway, Fred turned down attractive offers to remain definitely on Broadway and supervise musical shows for E. Ray Goetz. It was the enterprising Mr. Waring who staged several of the most effective novelties in "The New Yorkers," as well as several trick numbers for Lou Holtz' "You Said It."

Goetz offered to take over all contracts held by Waring in order that he might devote his time exclusively to the Goetz attractions, but the collegiate director vetoed all such propositions designed to separate him from his orchestra.

In this their last week on E street, the National Theater Players are meeting with most enthusiastic response to their extraordinarily fine work in Eugene O'Neill's "Strange Interlude" which, after two epochal weeks, will bring the Players' seventh Washington season to a close Sunday night at 11 o'clock.

Little remains to be said of the triumph the Players have achieved in this their most courageous and most exacting undertaking, beyond the fact that while the promise is of capacity patronage at the last performances, desirable locations still may be obtained at the box office for all remaining presentations of the nine-act drama that no one can in justice to himself afford not to see.

It may be fitting here to repeat our admonition of the week before the opening: It will pay you to be expeditious.

There is a swan song being tuned up down on Ninth street, too. Jimmy Lake is bringing the Gayety's season to a close Saturday night with one of the best attractions of the year —Hinda Wassau in "Hollywood Honeys."

Since there will not be any other indoor entertainment next week, you may be interested to know that the new pictures will be as follows: Palace, Joan Crawford in "Laughing Sinners," and Waring's Pennsylvanians; Earle, Douglas Fairbanks, jr., and Rose Hobart in "Chances," and Jack McLallen and Sarah headlining the vaudeville; Fox, Warner Oland and Sally Eilers in "The Black Camel," and Fanchon & Marco's "Top o' the World" idea; RKO-Keith's, Lewis Ayres and Genevieve Tobin in "Up for Murder;" Metropolitan, Charlotte Greenwood and Cliff Edwards in "Stepping Out;" Columbia, Clive Brook, Fay Wray, "Buddy" Rogers and Richard Arlen in "The Doctor's Secret," second week.

"Up for Murder," at RKO-Keith's, by the way, is Monta Bell's dialogue version of his silent, "Man, Woman and Sin," in which John Gilbert and the late Jeanne Eagels were costarred when a considerable portion of the filming was done here in Washington—and later most of the panning!

The Aaron Sisters, currently at the Fox and signed with Lucille Page and their cousins, the Forman Sisters, for Earl Carroll's new "Vanities," had the time of their lives watching themselves yesterday. You see, they all attended the Metropolitan to view the Vitaphone short, "Nine O'clock Folks," in which they and their Hillbilly melodies are heavily featured. I understand they agree with old Mr. and Mrs. John J. Public that they are pretty good!

And how many of you remember when Rockliffe Fellowes, appearing as the crooked detective sergeant in "The Vice Squad," at the Palace, was leading man of the old Poli Theater Stock Company? Oh, as many as that!

Don't let me interrupt you, Mr. President, if you are busy, but I was just wondering if there is any way that that year's moratorium could be made to take in the tailor and maybe the milk bill?

NATS BOW TO TIGERS, 7-5, AS BROWNS BEAT MACKS

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

IT has been apparent since the decline of Ty Cobb that base stealing in the big leagues, like hungstarting and tandem bike riding, has become a lost art. Whereas entire ball clubs used to strike a mighty blow for their cause with a few well judged thefts during the course of a ball game, the base-stealing burden in these days that place a premium on slugging has devolved upon the specialists and there are few of these.

Ben Chapman, mercury-footed outfielder of the Yankees, who came into the league as a third baseman, has revived the art this season with an imposing total of 26 stolen bases in 90 games and a record of having twice stolen three bases in a single contest. His turn of speed on the bases also has enabled him to match Cobb's copyrighted trick of scoring from second base on a bunt. He's the fastest hombres to grace the big league rosters in many a season. That's patent.

The decadence of the art has resulted in a state of affairs that permits a rare good base stealer to account for approximately half of the total stolen bases that his club can show over the course of the season.

Managers at Fault

The ramifications of the art of base stealing which reach into the length of the pitcher's wind-up, the lead off the bag, a fast start, the knack of sliding and sheer speed afoot may impose too great an asking for the average ball player, but the meager total of steals in the past decade is accountable chiefly to the disinclination of the managers to risk sending a man down in view of the possibility that an extra-base hit will bounce off the flail of the next batter.

Connie Mack and his Athletics have demonstrated the effectiveness of this waiting game with their imposing record of 45 wins and 15 losses and only nine stolen bases to their credit. The stolen base loses caste as an argument also in the light of Detroit's 40 thefts, which place them second in the league in that respect but which have availed them little according to their place in the standing of the clubs.

Nats of 1913 Hold Record

Even with Chapman's sensational work on the bases, the Yankees' total of 54 thefts, a new high water mark in recent years at this stage of the season, falls sadly in comparison to the record total of 288 stolen bases amassed by Washington in 1913 with George McBride and Clyde Milan setting the pace.

There are none to say that Chapman is faster than Cobb when the Georgia Peach set the modern record with 96 thefts in 1915. But it was a common complaint of rival managers that Cobb in his heyday was the recipient of more than his share of close decisions from the umpires because of his reputation as a base stealer. Cobb's fast start away from the bag and his habit of intimidating the infielders as he slid into the base with spikes gleaming served as much as his speed afoot to carry him safely into the bag. Baseball was made of sterner stuff then and spiking was an every day occurrence. It's the tendency of the modern base runner to hide his spikes.

Just how big a part base stealing played in the Tigers' game in Cobb's heyday is shown by the fact that in the year in which the Georgia Peach amassed his 96 thefts, he also won the record for being caught stealing the most times of any player in history—38. It showed he was in there trying to steal bases almost at the rate of one a game. Wee Miller Huggins, late manager of the Yankees, holds the National League record for being caught stealing with 36, when he was with the Cardinals in 1914.

Bucky Harris Was Smart

Base stealing and smart base running do not go hand in hand despite Cobb. Bucky Harris was never any great shakes as a base stealer, but he was the most worrisome of all base runners to the pitchers and stole a longer lead than any player of his time with the exception of Max Carey of the Pirates. Harris' cleverness at taking full advantage of the pitcher's windup offset his lack of speed. He was slow for a big leaguer, but a greatly feared man on the bases.

Despite Chapman's imposing record and that of Jonathan Stone, of the Tigers, who ranks second to Chapman with seventeen steals, neither is recognized as the smartest of the current base runners. That honor goes to Earl McNeely, erstwhile Nat, now with the Browns, who combines speed with a headiness that enables him to make the most of a pitcher's weakness. McNeely takes a longer lead off the bag than any player in the big leagues, and his ability to start quickly serves him in good stead if he is forced to get back to the bag. He is probably the best present-day exponent of Cobb's famed hook slide.

Out of the Past

Griffith Stadium provided the setting for one of baseball's little base-stealing dramas here a few years ago. Bucky Harris had traded McNeely to the Browns in the off-season of 1927 for Milton Gaston and resentment against Harris was high.

In the Browns' first appearance in Washington in 1928 McNeely appeared as lead-off man. He opened with a triple amid applause and catcalls for Harris. He doubled on his next appearance at the plate. This was the man Harris had traded. McNeely crashed out his third straight hit, a single.

Then he got the sign to steal. He was off like a wraith. Harris ambled over to cover the bag. Bucky was motionless as McNeely neared second. Unconcerned, gazing into the stands. There was no move toward taking a throw. McNeely had reason to believe there was no throw from the catcher. He slowed up. It was fatal. Harris didn't flick a muscle until Ruel's perfect throw plunked into his glove. He put the ball on the surprised McNeely a step from the bag. It was an old trick of Bucky Harris'. Did I say McNeely was smart?

Lott Is Lone U. S. Net Star To Lose

Lee, No. 2 Briton, Wins in 3 7-5 Sets at Wimbledon,

Shields, Van Ryn and Wood Among 16 to Survive Play.

By FRANK H. KING.

LONDON, June 24 (A.P.).—Three Americans—Frank X. Shields, Sidney B. Wood, Jr., and John Van Ryn—today won their way to the fourth round of Wimbledon tennis championship play along with seven Brittons, two Frenchmen and one player each from Japan, Austria, Germany and New Zealand.

The only American casualty of the day among the men was George Lott, jr., who fell before the accurate stroking of England's second ranking player, Harold Lee, in three long, deuced sets, 7—5, 7—5, 7—5.

It was a "midsummer day" on the English calendar, but wintry weather came to Wimbledon instead, and Lott shivered in defeat along with Lili de Alvarez, of Spain, who was surprisingly upset by Dorothy Round, an unseeded Englishwoman. Senorita de Alvarez wore her split skirt again, despite the cold, but most of the spectators wrapped their knees in blankets and warmed their insides with hot tea and other beverages. Even the referees and linesmen put shawls around their shaking legs.

Borotra and Boussus Also Advance.

With the American trio in the last sixteen were Jean Borotra and Christian Boussus, of France; H. W. Austin, Fred Perry, Harold Lee, Nigel Sharpe, G. P. Hughes, J. S. Olliff and Ian G. Collins, all of Great Britain; Jiro Satoh, of Japan; C. E. Malfroy, of New Zealand; H. W. Artens, of Austria, and G. von Cramm, of Germany.

The defeat of Lott, whose play is respected here, roused the galleries to considerable enthusiasm.

Lott played erratically and although the damp court might have been partly to blame, he was uncertain and erred frequently. He led Lee, 5 to 1, in the first set, but then let the Briton capture six straight games.

Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, Calif., made her first appearance on the Wimbledon courts this year and took a second round match from Billy Yorke, of England, 6—2, 7—5, and Mrs. Van Ryn won from Mrs. R. E. Haylock, of Great Britain, 6—2, 3—6, 8—6.

Marjorie Sachs Eliminated.

The only other American woman to play today—Marjorie Sachs—was defeated by Miss S. K. Johnson, of Great Britain, 6—2, 3—6, 7—5. Mrs. L. A. Harper, of Oakland, Calif., did not play today.

Shields had easy sailing in his third round match against E. Nourney, one of Germany's younger players whom he defeated 6—1, 6—1, 6—2, but Wood and Van Ryn both had to battle for their places.

Wood drew E. Maier, Spain's leading player, and although he disposed of him in three sets, 8—6, 6—3, 6—2 it was a dogfight for several minutes. It was not until he was trailing 5—6 in the first set that Wood seemed to find himself. Once he had taken command, however, he was never in serious danger again.

Van Ryn played F. Matejka, the Austrian, who eliminated Watson Washburn, of New York, in the first round, and had to go to four sets to win, 6—3, 3—6, 6—1, 6—4. His better all around assortment of strokes finally told the tale.

Rain, which fell early in the morning and delayed the start of play, caused cancellation of several doubles matches today and also interferred with play in the women's singles. None of the American doubles combinations took the court.

Most of tomorrow will be devoted to doubles, with Lott and Van Ryn playing E. M. Duplaix and R. Rodel while Shields and Wood meet C. G. and J. H. L. Fletcher.

Miss Jacobs will play on the famous center court in the third round of women's singles against Mrs. J. B. Pittman, of England, and Mrs. Harper will meet Mrs. Marshall in a second round match.

Yankees Win Easily From White Sox, 10-3

Chicago, June 24 (A.P.).—Pounding two pitchers hard and often while Charley Ruffing hurled shut-out ball until the final inning, the New York Yankees scored their sixth consecutive victory of the season over the White Sox today, 10 to 3.

Four of the Sox's eight hits off Ruffing came in the ninth.

Garland Braxton, who started for the Sox, was driven from the box in the sixth. Babe Ruth helped soften him up when he propelled his fifteenth home run of the year into the right field stands in the third.

Tunney Picks Stribling to Beat German; Discounts Ability of Sharkey and Carnera

Declares Georgian Is Superior in Speed and Experience.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 24 (A.P.).—Gene Tunney came to Ohio today to plant a tree, dig up a few friendly divots, before watching the professional golfing clans in action—and talk a little fight.

He thinks Bill Stribling will whip Max Schmeling at Cleveland the night of July 3 when they battle fifteen rounds for the world's heavyweight championship that Tunney discarded three years ago. Gene expects to be at the ringside and hopes it will be a decisive affair, free from fiasco elements that have tinged the heavyweight business at intervals since 1926.

"Stribling should win because of his speed, greater experience and boxing ability," remarked the man who quit the ring as one of its greatest craftsmen.

Tunney Thinks German Has Much to Learn.

"Schmeling is strong. The distance may favor him. I am told he has developed a good short punch, but from what I have seen of him the German boy has much to learn. He is dead game, I am sure, and that will be in his favor."

Tunney's ideas about boxing have altered since his retirement. He feels now that the game that meant fame and fortune to him, instead of being beset by reformers, has suffered through exploitation by racketeers.

Ex-Champion Thinks Racketeers Are Big Menace to Sport.

heavyweight peak, Gene believes, would help revive interest in this division of boxing. The former champion does not regard Jack Sharkey or Primo Carnera as possessing title caliber. He feels Sharkey has tossed away his chances to become a champion, that Carnera is not a fighter in the all-round sense of the word.

"If you want to talk about a fighter, consider Tommy Armour," remarked Tunney, switching the subject to golf and the victory of Armour in the British open. "Tommy is one of the most courageous men I have ever met. He has superb control of his game, especially in the pinches. He is keenly intelligent. He is willing to take risks to win."

Gene Due to Play Today at Scioto.

Tunney hopes to greet another champion, Bobby Jones, and share with him the luxury of watching the other fellows fight it out for a change. Gene plans to join the journalistic clan in the "Johnny Walker Cup" Tournament tomorrow at Scioto, if he can obtain a satisfactory handicap. He's not sure he can "break" 100 now.

Accompanied by Charles Francis Coe, the author, Tunney's first objective today was a visit to the arboretum of Beeman G. Dawes, brother of Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, at Newark, Ohio. The former champion, in fulfillment of a promise made two years ago in Florida, planted a tree that will bear his name in this semi-forest of celebrities.

He blames them for the decline of the sport.

Moore Halts Indians As Red Sox Win, 7-3

Cleveland, June 24 (A.P.).—The Red Sox took revenge on the Indians in the third game of the series today when Wilcy Moore held the tribe to six hits, allowing Boston to win, 7 to 3.

It was a pitcher's duel until the ninth. For eight innings Moore held the Indians to three hits and two runs, while Mel Harder allowed the Sox five hits and three runs.

The Tribe got to Moore for three hits and another run in the ninth.

In the fourth inning Johnny Burnett was knocked unconscious by a hot bounder off Berry's bat. He was able to walk to the dugout, but will be out of the game several days with a badly swollen eye.

National League Heads Boost New Baseball

New York, June 24 (A.P.).—National League club presidents at their midseason meeting here today expressed complete satisfaction with the new and less lively baseball employed in the circuit this year, as well as with the new antisacrifice fly rule.

"We are decidedly pleased with the new ball," said President John Heydler, who presided. "Our figures prove it has given us a better brand of baseball and has increased attendance. We think it is by far the best ball we ever have had. As for the sacrifice fly rule, we find it has reduced the batting averages very little."

While there originally were three presidential votes against the new sphere, the vote was unanimous in its favor today.

CAMPBELL SUSPENDED.

Columbus, Ohio, June 24 (A.P.).—Archie Campbell, right-handed pitcher for the Columbus American Association, was suspended indefinitely without pay today for violation of the training rules and insubordination. Larry Macphail, president of the Red Birds, did not indicate Campbell's future status.

He will return to South Bend July 15. They said his illness was not serious.

College Boys Are Reminded To Respect Their Elders, Who Act Like College Boys

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.
Special to The Washington Post.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell, the president of Harvard University, puts the younger generation in a bad spot with his discovery that education in America today tends to prolong infancy. If the undergraduate imitates the manners of maturity he is taking frequent chances of being punished for conduct unbecoming an undergraduate. On the other hand, when he wishes to conduct his play according to his own youthful pleasure, the general practice in the big schools is to remind him that he is only a youth, after all, and not yet man enough to run his football and baseball games.

Among the most prominent activities of maturity at the present time are sport, principally golf, and parties, both generally attended by the consumption of stimulating beverages. When a youth comes close to manhood he makes the puzzling discovery that the respect he used to hold for maturity was not well deserved, and he is likely to feel that he has been kidded for years. There are exceptional grown persons who take life seriously, of course, but I should say that on the average the older set are as much concerned with having a good time as the younger set, if not more so.

Play Is Purposeful After Maturity.

Moreover, because to them the dew is now off the rose and they have begun to realise that they are not going to live forever, their habits of play are not likely to be as innocent as those of youth. The night clubs of Broadway and along the outlying roads in other cities are not supported by patrons of undergraduate age, and for all the literature about the alarming social tendencies of the undergraduates I do not believe their conduct at their parties could be improved by imitation of the manners of their elders at theirs.

Anyway, in youth, the party is, or used to be, an occasion rather than a habit, whereas when he suddenly finds himself grown up he is likely to find that attendance at parties of one kind or another is an important part of his regular occupation. The conversation of his elders will have to do with the Starr Faithfull case and the Vivian Gordon case, with the question of the old ball versus the new in golf, with Peter Arno's experience in not being shot with a gun that wasn't loaded in the hands of young Neely Vanderbilt, who wasn't chasing him, and, of course, with good old prohibition, drink her down.

Flabby Thinking Goes With Flabby Muscles.

The youth will soon come to the conclusion that the high and desirable state of maturity toward which he has been aspiring for so many years, tipping his hat to his elders and all such as that, is not as represented. But now that he is mature himself he can't go back. So his muscles get flabby and his principles, too, and in a few years he must admit to himself that he is not half the man he was when he was a boy.

One sometimes sees excited parties of young people before or after big athletic events in various parts of the country doing more drinking than is good for them and boiling around slightly wild-eyed until the small Circuit Blows Aid Rookie Pitcher in Triumph.

ST. LOUIS, June 24 (A.P.).—The lowly Browns, behind the effective pitching of Wallace Hebert, youthful southpaw hurler, made it two straight over the champion Athletics by winning the third game of the series here today, 6-5.

Contributing largely to the victory were two home runs by "Goose" Goslin, his ninth and tenth of the season. Kress also hit for the circuit for St. Louis and Haas for Philadelphia.

The A's, however, lost no ground in their pennant race, as Washington, the runner-up, succumbed to the Detroit Tigers.

Robins in 1st Division, Beating Pirates Twice

Brooklyn, June 24 (A.P.).—Brooklyn's up-and-coming Robins climbed into the first division in the National League for the first time this season by scoring a double victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates today, 6 to 4 and 5 to 3. The double win ran the Flock's streak to five straight.

Mickey Finn, Rookie second baseman, played a prominent part in winning both games. The first tilt, a duel between French and Shaute, was decided after two were out in the Brooklyn eighth, when Finn singled to drive in a run and break a tie. Another run scored when Lloyd Waner juggled the hit.

Finn singled with the bases filled in the first inning of the second game to score two runs and give the Robins a lead that was never overcome. Heimach held the Pirates until the ninth, when he weakened and allowed two runs.

LAVERNE FATOR RIDES 1,000TH WINNER, REACHING GOAL

Blind Bowboy Is Mount in Epic Feat

Star Rider Achieves Ambition in Third at Aqueduct.

Has Had 4,369 Horses, Only 1,979 Unplaced, in 15 Years.

By ORLO ROBERTSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

NEW YORK, June 24 (A.P.).—Laverne Fator, generally rated as America's premier jockey, achieved his life's ambition today, when he booted his 1,000th winner down past the judges' stand in the third race at Aqueduct.

Astride E. R. Bradley's, Blind Bowboy, the little veteran, who came out of Idaho fifteen years ago to show the "big timers" a thing or two about riding, drove past the finish line amid such applause as seldom heard at a metropolitan race track. He came close to exceeding his cherished aim in the fifth race, finishing second on Bradley's Barometer.

During his turf career, Fator has had 4,369 mounts, of which he won with 1,000, placed second with 750, third with 640, and went unplaced with only 1,979. Only three times in the last twelve years has the leading rider of any year shown a higher percentage.

Fator Rose to Fame Under Hildreth.

Fator first gained prominence at Havana, but he was an overnight success once he started to ride on the metropolitan tracks. Under the direction of the late Sam Hildreth, trainer for the Harry F. Sinclair Rancosas Stable, Laverne rose to stardom.

For many years Fator was a member of the famous combination of Hildreth-Earl Sande and Fator, which swept all before it with Sinclair runners on the American turf. Last year, however, he severed his connections with the Rancocas Stable and signed with E. R. Bradley, of Kentucky.

Fatop's performance took the spotlight away from the Woodhaven Claiming Stakes, in which ten shifty juveniles battled over 5 furlongs for the $5,500 purse. The winner turned up in the Rancocas Stable's Despoil, a 6-to-1-shot, which was well ridden by Apprentice Pat Remillard. J. J. Robinson's Renaissance, the favorite, was second and the Pine Tree Farm's Regal Flag third.

A seven-run rally in the ninth inning with one out gave the Army War College a 9-to-8 victory over the Bolling Field aggregation on the Washington Barracks diamond yesterday. Griffith's home-run with two mates on base was the crowning blow of the uprising.

TIGERS BEAT BROWN BY RALLY

Extra-Base Blows in Eighth Feature Winning Stand.

left center opening the second, cut the Detroit lead in half, and an error by Owen, Brown's sacrifice, a base on balls and singles by Manush and Harris enabled the Nationals to take a one-run lead in the fifth.

It looked as though the stage was set for a productive rally in the sixth when, with one dead, Kuhel's single, Brower's error which gave Spencer life, and Brown's looper filled the bases. Myer, however, popped to Alexander while trying to lay down a "squeeze" bunt, and the first sacker got the ball to second in time to double up Spencer.

Singles by Manush, Harris and West gave the Nationals their fifth run in the seventh, and Whitehill was in full command in the remaining two innings. After the Tigers had taken their two-run lead, there was considerable enthusiasm on the Washington bench when Manush drew a walk opening the ninth, but Cronin and Harry Rice failed to advance, and Johnson then called on "Pinky" Hargrave to hit for West. He was told to "take his cut" and try to knock the ball out of the park, but his best was a liner to Stone and the Nationals were beaten.

Manush Is Leader Of Nats' Attack.

Manush, with a double and two singles, led the Washington attack, while Owen's two doubles and single played the biggest part in the Tiger offense.

The Eastern clubs—the Nats no more than the others—are finding the teams of the West harder nuts to crack than they have been in the past. Manager Walter Johnson and his charges started this trip with a record of twenty victories and but three losses against the West's combined representation. With their loss today they have dropped as many in less than a week as they did in their previous invasion and home stand against the teams from this sector.

The Washington Team ends its series here tomorrow and needs victory to get better than an even break. The task of getting this triumph and, incidentally, adding a ninth win to his own account, will be put up to Carl Fischer. Vic Sorrell will oppose him for the Tigers.

CARDS TWICE CONQUER PHILS

Score 4-2 in Each Game; Watkins Gets 3 Homers.

PHILADELPHIA, June 24 (A.P.).—St. Louis took both ends of a double-header from Philadelphia today by the score of 4 to 2 in each game.

George Watkins, Cardinal's right fielder, drove out three home runs in the second game. He accounted for all of the runs for his team, bringing in Frisch with one of his clouts. Two were made off Collins and one off Jim Elliott.

The Phils had the first game in hand up to the ninth inning, Ray Benge having outpitched Bill Hallahan for a 2-to-1 lead, but he weakened and Fallenstein was unable to check the drive, the Cards scoring three runs. Lindsey, who pitched the last two innings, was the winning hurler.

Giants Take First, 2-0; Then Lose to Cubs, 14-10

New York, June 24 (A.P.).—Baseball ranged from the sublime to the ridiculous at the Polo Grounds today as the Giants divided a double header with the Chicago Cubs, winning the first 2 to 0 and dropping the nightcap, 14 to 10.

Carl Hubbell pitched brilliant ball for the McGrawmen in the opener, letting the Cubs down with two singles and striking out nine. The Giants made the most of their five hits and Smith and Root, Ethan Allen accounting for one with a home run.

The second was an old-fashioned slugfest from start to finish, nine pitchers participating. The Cubs got off to a lead by scoring seven times in the second inning, only to have the Giants go in front with a six-run splurge in the fourth. It was settled in the first of the ninth, when the visitors scored six. Hornsby hit his twelfth homer for the Cubs and Ott and Vergez made homers for the Giants.

FT. HOYLE AND WAR WHITES REACH POLO TOURNEY FINAL

5,000 Watch Thrilling Games

Blues, Middleburg Are Beaten in War Dept. Tourney.

Winners Will Play First Argentine Cup Tilt Today.

By RICHARD S. TENNYSON.

SIXTH FIELD ARTILLERY, from Fort Hoyle, and War Whites will meet in the final match for the War Department Polo Association's invitation tourney championship. This was settled yesterday on the Potomac Park oval where 5,000 spectators witnessed the above-named squads triumph over War Blues and Midleburdg, 8 to 5 and 11 to 8, respectively.

In the Sixth Field-War Blue contest it was evident that the National Army Polo Association, which handicaps the soldier poloists, will have to revise its opinion of several individuals next winter when the ratings of the various stickmen are considered. The Blue squad carried two more goals than the Artillerymen, consequently giving the latter a two-goal handicap, but judging from yesterday's play theindividuals in the four positions are about even.

Lieut. Rogers Stars For War Whites.

Lieut. Rogers, number 2 man on the White four, gave the handicappers a jolt when he contributed materially to the War team's victory over Midlebdurg with four goals. The Army ratings show the hard-rading Rogers as carrying a one-goal handicap, but yesterday he converted four of teammates' passes into goals, and as the score indicates, this was a material factor in the White victory.

Despite the fact that the Sixth Field-War Blue game was a continuation from Tuesday when rain interfared, and that the scores were not close, the fans were furnished with thrills aplenty. The reliable Col. Chaffee played his usual clever stick game, leaving the hard riding and lang shooting to Col. Swift in the unsuccessful effort of the Blues against the Fort Hoyle malletmen.

In this contest two former local high school celebrities played a prominent part in the victory of the Maryland stickmen. Lieut. Anthony McAulliffe, at number 1 for the Sixth Field squad, will be remembered as a flashing basket ball and baseball player at Eastern High in 1916. Charles Dasher, number 4 for the same squad, was an all-round athlete at Central High in 1919 and two years preceeding.

Capital Natives Impressive in Game.

Yesterday this pair, although new at the game of polo, showed marked adeptness at horsemanship and handling the mallet. McAulliffe was particularly good in handling his stick on either side of his pony. The fact that Dasher is playing the important number 4 position shows the remarkable progress he has made in the horseback game.

Today the first match of the tournament for the Argentina Cup will be played on Potomac Park with the first period starting at 4 o'clock. Sixth Field Artillery and the War Blues will meet in the first clash in the second annual tourney for the South American offering to Washington polo.

D. C. Firemen Lose, 5-3, To Fort Humphreys

The strong Fort Humphreys baseball team yesterday added the D. C. Fire Department nine to its growing list of victims, winning by a score of 5 to 3 in a free hitting contest at Fort Humphreys. The soldiers connected for a total of fifteen safe hits while the smoke-eaters pounded out a total of eighteen. Good support in the pinches aided hurlers for each team.

Fort Humphreys Team won the championship of the Third Corps Area last year and is the leading contender for the title this season. To date the soldiers have not been defeated in league play and have only two more games to play.

Miss Margaret Warrick won the bowl offered by Mrs. D. J. Howell in the Women's Spring championship golf tournament yesterday at the Belle Haven Country Club links, defeating Mrs. Robert Wheat, 2 up and 1 to go, over 18 holes.

Previous to this match, the two ladies had played a stellar game of golf, only to end up deadlocked after 18 holes, and yesterday's match was the play-off.

This afternoon Miss Warrick was presented the handsome trophy by Mrs. Howell at the weekly session of the ladies held at the clubhouse. A short acceptance speech was made by Miss Warrick.

Mrs. Lewis S. Scott, chairman of the women's golf committee, was enthused with the showings made in this tourney. The largest number of participants ever in a ladies' tournament took part.

In the near future the Alexandria Gazette will stage a ladies' championship tournament. Handsome prizes will be given the winners. The dates will be announced later.

It is expected that a ladies' golf team will be organized at the Belle Haven Club and they will oppose the leading ladies' teams in this section in matches. Some information on this team will be announced later.

The Virginia Juniors Baseball Team will hold an important meeting Friday night at 7:30 o'clock, corner King and Royal streets. Eddie Harlow will speak at the meeting. Coach Cronin requests the following to be present: Munsford, H. Travers, Gensmer, H. Gensmer, F. Gorman, F. Pullman, M. Carr, L. Baber, M. Nugent, Sperling, Cliff, Zimmerman, Scott, Schriener and others.

On Saturday the youngsters will mix with the Spengler Post Team, of Washington.

Bill Fiester, manager of the French nine, and Director Corbett, of the Celtics, will meet this week to decide on terms for Sunday's game. This contest is the first of the little world series for semipro honors.

Lefty McIntire will pitch for the Celtics. Eddie Colliflower or Bob Lyons will hurl for the invaders. The Celtics held a practice last night in preparation for the game.

The Del Ray Athletic Club tossers will mix with the Jefferson Fire Department nine in a game Sunday on Edward Duncan Field.

Director Prex Wilson, of the American Legion Juniors Baseball Team, is anxious to book any post team in Washington for a game Friday afternoon on Haydon's Field in Alexandria.

Wilson may be reached by phoning Alexandria 2454.

Quarter-Final Play Reached In Army Tennis Tourney

Seven Advance in Quest of Sheridan Cup at Columbia; Strahan, Defending Champion, Due Today for First Match.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

SEVEN Army officers gained the quarter-final round in the annual play for the Sheridan Cup, representative of the service championship, yesterday at Columbia Country Club, the missing figure being none other than Lieut. J. W. Strahan, defending champion, who, it is reliably reported, will show up today for the tournament, which started Tuesday.

Lieut. Strahan, the steady-stroking champion, is due to take the courts at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the defense of his laurels. What success may attend his current stand for the title will not be particularly enhanced by his having to play two comparatively stiff matches today with nothing in the way of warming up.

The defending title holder is not expected to be pressed greatly by his first opponent, Lieut. H. C. Gibner; but in Lieut. P. K. Morrill he will meet a hard-hitting netman who, if he can preserve a measure of steadiness, is expected to press him to the limit. Morrill yesterday contributed one of the several slight tremors denoting the upheaval of "form" by beating Lieut. Millard Lewis in straight sets, 6—4, 6—2, unleashing a serve and an overhead smash at most times totally unplayable.

Hedekin Pressed By Brooks.

The way was long and the road rocky for Ieut. David D. Hedekin, second seeded player, who survived only after a dog-eat-dog encounter with Lieut. Harold Brooks, whom he defeated, 7—9, 6—3, 6—3. Lieut. Stan Robinson and Maj. J. H. Hills, remaining seeded players, had little trouble reaching the round of eight, Robinson defeating Capt. J. H. Drake, 6—1, 6—2 and Hills disposing of Ieut. George Gardes, 6—0, 6—4.

Dogged determination, coupled with Hedekin's inability to sum up much in the way of steadiness, gave Lieut. Brooks a splendid chance to take the match, after he was generally thought not only to be easy pickings for his seeded opponent, but even was erroneously reported by this reporter as having been defeated the day before.

Heiskell, D. C. Star, Wins.

Lieut. Jimmy Heiskell, a local public parks luminary, turned in some of the best tennis of the day in leaping from the first round to the quarter-finals, finishing off Capt. Cochran, 7—5, 1—6, 8—6, a score which was the continuation of their 5-5 deadlock in the first set Tuesday, and then eliminating Maj. P. W. Newgarden in another three-setter, 4—6, 6—1, 6—3. Heiskell, hitting out for all he was worth, was in hot water only through his own errors. Whenever his shots struck in legitimate ground the point in question usually was his.

In an exhibition match, staged for the edification of F. Trubee Davidson, Assistant Secretary of War, Dold Muehleisen, recently come under Army colors, outstroked a fellow Californian, Lieut. Robinson, in a one-set affair, 6—4.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.

First round—Lieut. J. W. Strahan defeated Lieut. John Helms by default; Lieut. Harold Brooks defeated Capt. M. Spangler, 6—2, 6—2; Lieut. James Heiskell defeated Capt. H. Cochran, 7—5, 1—6, 8—6; Maj. J. H. Hills defeated Col. K. Easton by default.

Second round—Lieut. D. D. Hedekin defeated Lieut. Harold Brooks, 7—9, 6—3, 6—3; Capt. C. W. Christenberry defeated Lieut. J. S. Moran, 6—2, 6—2; Maj. J. H. Hills defeated Lieut. George Gardes, 6—0, 6—4; Lieut. P. K. Morrill defeated Lieut. Millard Lewis, 6—4, 6—2; Lieut. S. K. Robinson defeated Capt. J. H. Drake, 6—1, 6—2; Maj. L. S. Hobbs defeated Capt. T. J. Jackson, 6—1, 6—1; Lieut. James Heiskell defeated Maj. P. W. Newgarden, 4—6, 6—1, 6—3.

TODAY'S PAIRINGS.

Second round (10:30 o'clock)—Lieut. J. W. Strahan vs. Lieut. H. C. Gibner.

Quarterfinal round (2 o'clock)—Lieut. Hedekin vs. Capt. Christenberry; Maj. Hills vs. Lieut. Heiskell; Lieut. P. K. Morrill vs. winner of Strahan-Gibner match; Lieut. Robinson vs. Maj. Hobbs.

TWO HILLTOP GOLFERS OUSTED

Fischer, Beger Lose in First Round o f College Tourney.

OLYMPIA Fields County Club, Chicago, June 24 (A.P.).—Ohio State shared honors which had been Yale's as the National Intercollegiate Golf Tournament advanced today into the third round and the Western Conference matched the performance of the East's "Big Three."

Two Buckeyes and two Bulldogs won their way into the 36-hole matches of the quarter-finals tomorrow. They were Johnny Fiorio and Robert Kepler, of Ohio State, and Sidney W. Noyes, jr., and T. J. Aycock, jr., of Yale.

They were accompanied by James ("Scotty") Reston, of Illinois; William Redmond, of Notre Dame; Jesse Rainwater, of Tulane, and George T. Dunlap, jr., of Princeton (the defending champion).

Beger Defeated in Dazzling Finish.

Both of Georgetown's qualifiers were eliminated in the first round of match play this morning. Tommy Aycock, of Yale, a perennial headliner in the tournament, beat Louis Fisher, 3 and 1. John Fiorio, of Ohio State, defeated Fred Beger, 1 up in 19 holes. The Fiorio-Beger finish was sensational. Fiorio was 15 feet from the cup on his second shot on the par-5 extra hole, and he dropped the putt for an eagle 3. Beger had left himself a 1-foot putt for a birdie 4, but had no chance to play it.

TRIBE DROPS DONOHUE.

Cleveland, June 24 (A.P.).—Pete Donohue, veteran pitcher, formerly of the Cincinnati Reds and Giants, was given his unconditional release today by the Cleveland Indians. He had been signed as a relief hurler after his release by the Giants.

Special to The Washington Post.

Quantico, Va., June 24.—A six-run rally in the lucky seventh gave the Marines an 8-7 victory over Fortress Monroe here this afternoon in one of the most exciting games seen at the post in several years.

Outhit, seven bingles to eight, the Marines made every blow count, and were aided by a trio of disastrous errors on the part of the visitors.

Batting honors went to Gorman and Tolan. Surrett, Tolan and Locke turned in a double play as one of the features of the game.

COLLEGE BOYS TOLD TO RESPECT ELDERS

hours of the morning and, because the participants are young, one is likely to sigh that this is youth playing at youthful pleasures.

But am I wrong in believing that this is only youth playing at being grown up, or is it that when the elders do these things, as they do constantly all over this country, that it is age playing at being young again? More likely it is the former, because in a season's contacts with college students in unsocial moments on their campuses they will be found to be much more earnest and, to grope for a word, clean, than people who have been out of college for, say, ten years.

Finds Wrong in Urging Youth to Be Grown Up.

It seems to me that urging the students to be grown up under the circumstances of undergraduate life is like tying a horse to a hitching post and yelling at him to run. There was a proposition to play a post-season football game one day last fall, and the officials of one of the schools concerned were against it on various grounds which sounded plausible enough, although the game finally was played and none of the disastrous consequences predicted then has since ensued. It was suggested that nobody had yet asked the members of the team if they would like to play, and at this the coach flew into a rage and said nobody was going to poll his team. They might not have appreciated the seriousness of the proposition.

So, in sport, at least, which is one of the most serious activities of undergraduate life, the responsibilities are so heavy that mature heads are required to make all the decisions, some of them intensely political, and even to run the games in the minutest detail. But socially it is only the undergraduate's sense of responsibility and his ambition which deter him from imitating his elders to his detriment.

Prolonging Infancy Retards Education.

I realize that I have wandered off the fairway of Dr. Lowell's theme, for in mentioning the tendency to prolong infancy he was dealing only with the retardation of education. But the idea automatically suggests a comparison between the social practices, the principles and the general deportment of young people and their elders.

Comparing the two, I should say that it were less a reproach to be told, "Don't be collegiate" than "Don't act grown up."

MAX TARGET AGAIN FOR BROWN

Novice Training Mate Easily Lands Punches on Champion.

By CHARLES DUNKLEY.

CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., June 24.—Mr. Yussel Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, stood on the edge of the boxing ring today and saw the world's heavyweight champion get another high-grade leathering from Natie Brown, San Francsico heavyweight, the second in two days.

Brown, an experienced, tireless warrior, faced Schmeling for two rounds and swarmed all over the title holder just as if he was an ordinary, preliminary fighter. He cracked the champion with left hooks to the chin, hooks to the body and right crosses to the head, while Schmeling, with a sober, worried look on his face, stood there and took it. Schmeling, however, succeeded in cracking the fast-charging Brown on the chin with a pair of straight rights that slowed him up for a second.

Jacobs Unworried At Showing.

Jacobs did not seem to be worried over the slamming the champion took. He explained that Schmeling was not showing all his stuff in workouts, and that he was not in the ring to slaughter his sparring partners.

"Schmeling is here to get ready for Stribling," Jacobs explained. "It would be foolish for him to try to murder his sparring partners. In all the rounds that he has boxed not a single sparring partner has put a mark on him or drawn a drop of blood.

"He has not taken a punch that has hurt him. He is here to sharpen his eye, perfect judgment of distance, and timing and to practice his new inside right uppercut."

Fails to Land Uppercut.

If Schmeling was attempting to perfect his uppercut he had no success in doing so against Brown. The San Francisco heavyweight kept Schmeling so busy stopping or blocking the avalanche of punches that the German heavyweight was unable to launch much of an attack.

Schmeling boxed eight rounds today and had two rounds of calisthenics without a rest period. It was the longest workout of his training campaign. In addition to stepping two rounds with Brown, Schmeling engaged two with Steve Simon, the Erie Pa., "string bean," three with George Panka, of Pittsburgh, and one with Tony Marullo, of New Orleans.

At the close of the third round of medal play yesterday afternoon in the club championship now being played on the Chevy Chase course, Fred Hitz still led by a comfortable margin of four strokes. The scores to date are as follows:

Fred Hitz, 76, 78, 81—235; R. P. Davidson, 84, 74, 81—239; Reeve Lewis, jr., 85, 81, 77—243; John Britton, 81, 83, 85—249; C. Ashmead Fuller, 85, 79, 87—251; Emmons S. Smith, jr., 82, 83, 86—251; E. K. Legg, jr., 83, 86, 83—252; Gregory Prince, 90, 89, 84—263; G. Brown Miller, 88, 84, no card.

STOCK PRICES CLIMB IN HOLIDAY MARKET

Traders Disregard All News as Issues Rise in Sales of 5,100,000 Shares.

New York, June 24 (A.P.).—The holiday spirit that prevailed on the stock exchange today bubbled over into other financial markets, giving an encouraging lift to most of the commodities.

The 2 to 12-point rally in stocks got little assistance from the domestic news; indeed, several business indices, including steel and electric power production, freight car loadings and crude oil output, were of an adverse nature. But the market was determined to be optimistic and made the most of what favorable news came to hand. The advance, averaging 5.4 points, was more vigorous and inclusive than Monday's and the 5,100,000-share turnover was the largest since February 24.

Wall street placed a constructive interpretation on reports that the French cabinet's reply to President Hoover was conditional. However, it waxed enthusiastic over the announcement of higher wholesale prices on cigarettes, the regular Westinghouse dividend, the rise in copper and the decision in the radio license case.

Market Ignores News.

Pennsylvania's dividend reduction to a $3 annual basis from $4, the 2-point drop in steel ingot production and the decrease in freight traffic during the week-ended June 13 held no terrors, although it was easy to imagine how such news might have been greeted even a week ago. Declaration of the regular dividends by Baltimore & Ohio and Northern Pacific came too late to find reflection in the trading.

Aside from the metals, the oil, tobacco and rubber shares made outstanding demonstrations. Rails wavered momentarily when the news of Pennsylvania came out, then resumed their advance.

Baltimore & Ohio gained 5 and Atchison 6, while New York Central, Southern Railway and Southern Pacific rose about 3. U. S. Steel's rise above par had an important psychological effect, while the rapid advances of Radio and Westinghouse lent strength to other industrials. Steel closed at 100, up 3¾. Its highest quotation was 100¾. Utilities lagged just a little but American Telephone, International Telephone, North American and American & Foreign Power were up 2 to 3 net. There was a similar range in Bethlehem Steel, American Can, General Electric, General Motors, National Biscuit.

Tobacco Shares Climb.

American Tobacco "B" shot up 11 points at the opening and closed with a slightly larger gain. Other prominent issues in the same group were up 3 to 10.

Iron Age, estimating the steel ratio at 36 per cent of capacity, thought the President's moratorium, the coal strike in parts of Pennsylvania and West Virginia and the railroads' freight rate application were factors which "singly or in combination, may pull the iron and steel market out of the doldrums." Takings of structural materials are running ahead of a year ago and the demand for pipe continues. The price situation is still rather confused.

Copper was advanced another quarter cent and firmer quotations appeared in lead, zinc, sugar, rubber and silver. Behind the advance in the oil shares there was an undercurrent of opinion that the problem of curtailment in the Southwestern fields is approaching a solution and that the end of price cutting is in sight.

Wheat, with the exception of June, closed a cent higher. Export demand was better and rain was lacking in the Northwest. Corn was up ⅜ to 1⅜, reflecting a bullish Iowa State report and high temperatures throughout the West. Firmness of the grain and share markets helped cotton, which rose 50 to 70 cents a bale net.

In foreign exchanges the mark displayed occasional easiness, but closed steady. The Spanish peseta weakened. Canada's dollar was quiet as a further gold shipment was received from Montreal.

BANKER PUBLICATION MERGER CONSIDERED

Dollars and Sense Bulletin May Be Consolidated in Early Issue.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Consolidation of Dollars and Sense, quarterly publication of Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, with the Bulletin, monthly official organ of the District of Columbia Bankers Association, may come before the consideration of the respective organizations within a short time, it was learned yesterday. The matter has been the subject of several harmonious conferences between various officials of the two groups, it was understood.

The proposal is the result of the decision of chapter officials to abandon solicitation of advertisements for Dollars and Sense. This decision was prompted by the fact that numerous advertisers were either certain association member banks, placed in obvious competition in its columns through their support, or some of their important depositors, to whom the advertising benefits were questionable. In addition to this the publication was not receiving the aid of all association member banks and was dependent on that of certain faithful contributors.

Publication's Alternatives.

In view of the foregoing decision, the chapter publication is confronted with four alternatives—suspension of publication, continued publication in its present excellent style through support of the bankers' association in an emasculated, pamphlet form by the chapter, or as a section of a merged publication of the two bodies.

In presenting the situation to the bankers association, its advertising committee has stated "the matter of advertising by banks in Dollars and Sense, Washington chapter's able and attractive organ, has been the subject of friendly conference between this committee and chapter officials with the decision that this publication is hardly a medium for competitive advertisements but should have the direct support of the association.

"The chapter officials are in harmony with the committee and will endeavor to arrange their budget for 1931-32 to maintain the publication of Dollars and Sense without any advertising whatever. It is the sense of the committee that the publication is highly deserving of the direct assistance of the association and that the advantages arising from nonsolicitation of advertising from banks and depositors, together with the saving of time to chapter officials engaged in that work, warrants consideration by the council of administration of the extent to which such assistance should be given."

Bankers' Action Awaited.

As yet the bankers association has taken no action regarding the advertising committee's suggestion, and while it is believed its assistance will be forthcoming, it is doubtful that it will be to an extent permitting publication of the chapter magazine in the present pretentious manner made possible by advertising revenues.

Dollars and Sense was founded eight years ago, Norman E. Towson, assistant treasurer, Washington Loan & Trust Co., being its first editor. It has since become nationally famous among institute organs and under the editorship of Aubrey O. Dooley, assistant trust officer, Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., won first prize at institute national conventions several times. Because of its national prominence, it has been suggested that in case of amalgamation with the Bulletin, its title supplant that of the bankers' magazine.

Proponents of the merger emphasize that it will be advantageous to the chapter in that its news could be allowed practically half of the space in the bankers' magazine and be presented with a timelier value in this monthly publication. The Bulletin is approximately three years old and is published generally in pamphlet form, without advertising support.

Underwriters Meeting Today.

The June meeting of the District of Columbia Life Underwriters Association to be held at the Carlton Hotel this afternoon, beginning at 12:30 o'clock, will be confined to installation of new and reports of outgoing officers.

McElfresh, of the bank and trust company cooperation committee. Joseph A. Marr is named chairman of a new committee, the legislative committee.

At the regular monthly meeting held yesterday, directors of the National Bank of Washington, declared the usual semiannual dividend of 6 per cent payable July 2, to stockholders of record June 30.

At a meeting of the board of directors of Anacostia Bank yesterday the regular 5 per cent quarterly dividend was ordered paid June 30, to stockholders of record June 25.

Curb Review

New York, June 24 (A.P.).—Although bullish enthusiasm was most pronounced in the oils, all groups on the curb market participated in an active upturn today. The turnover of 740,000 shares was slightly less than on Monday.

The market opened higher and plowed steadily ahead, easily handling a little late profit-taking. Utilities did well in much larger volumes than appeared in oils. Investment trusts returned some good gains, as did many of the specialties.

Humble Oil's extreme rise of 7¼ was cut to 6½, while Vacuum, after touching 61⅞, closed at 59½, up 5⅛. Vacuum, Cities Service, Plymouth and Imperial were up 1 to 3, while Standard of Ohio hopped 4¾ in odd-lot transactions. Standard of Indiana lagged. Cities Service 7 per cent preferred jumped 5.

Electric Bond & Share was actively taken, getting above 44 by early afternoon. The net gain was 3¾. Electric Power & Light warrants, American Superpower, American Gas & Electric, United Light A, Brazilian Traction, National Bond & Share and American & Foreign Power warrants rose 1 to 2.

Metal stocks were buoyant. Bunker Hill and Newmont each jumped 4 points and New Jersey Zinc improved 1½. Columbia Pictures, Northwest Yeast, Aluminum of America, Singer Manufacturing and Armstrong Cork were other leaders.

Selected Industries preferred, up 8½, and Mayflower Associates, Insull and Securities Corporation General, up 2, stood out in the investment trust division. United Founders worked against the trend most of the day, but finally rallied half a point.

BOND PRICES HIGHER IN GENERAL ADVANCE

Gains Range From Fractions to 5 Points; Wide Rises in Rails and Utilities.

New York, June 24 (A.P.).—The bond market continued active today, and made a general advance. Net gains ranging from fractions up to 5 points were distributed over the whole list. The closing average price of thirty issues made up of ten bonds each of public utilities, railroads and industrials closed at 95, a net gain of four-tenths of a point, the largest such increase since June 4.

As a group industrial loans experienced the largest gains. Armour 4½s, California Petroleum 5s of 1939, Chile Copper 5s, Manati Sugar 7½s, International Match 5s of 1947, Goodrich 6s, Goodyear 5s, Pathe Exchange 7s, Phillips Petroleum 5½s, Shell Union Oil 5s, Sinclair 6½s, Skelly Oil 5½s, United States Rubber 5s and Warner Sugar Stamped 7s jumped from 1 to 7½ points. The larger gains, of course, usually occurred among issues of some speculative standing, but moderate gains were common throughout this group.

Large gains were scattered over the public utility and railroad obligations also. St. Paul 5s of 1975 and of 2000 were two of the most active bonds of the whole list and made net gains of 2¾ points each. Net gains of 1 point or more appeared in the several Alleghany issues. Rock Island refunding 4s of 1934 and convertible 4½s of 1960, American & Foreign Power 5s, New Haven 3½s, of 1947, New York, Ontario & Western refunding 4s, Illinois Central 3½s and 4¾s and several International telephone bonds. The advance was less pronounced among the utilities than in the rails.

Generally higher levels in United States Treasury and Liberty Loans was another feature. Since the proposal to suspend intergovernmental debt payments for one year became public this group has moved downward but the trend was reversed today.

Strength in the foreign obligations was spotty. The largest gains were concentrated pretty much among the bonds of a few borrowers such as Chili and certain Brazilian and German issues.

ALEXANDRIA STREET BARRED TO PARKING

Washington Memorial Steel Tower, 150 Feet High, Is Torn Down.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 823.

Police Capt. W. W. Campbell has banned automobile parking on the new concrete roadway on Washington street, a part of Mount Vernon boulevard, because it is so narrow. Only one side of the street, consisting of a strip of concrete 20 feet wide, is now open, and this is being used as a two-way street, although it is considerably less than one-half the width the street will be when completed. There will be two 20-foot strips, and another 7-foot strip on either side, when the roadway is completed.

Police are of opinion that tagging of parked cars will soon break up the parking, and it is understood usual fines for improper parking will be imposed when offenders are brought into police court.

The ban on parking will be continued, according to Capt. Campbell, until the entire street is completed, which is expected to be about July 4.

The steel tower, 160 feet high, used in construction of the George Washington Masonic National Memorial Temple on Shooters Hill, which has been in place since 1922, was razed yesterday. The temple proper rises 340 feet from the ground, and this tower has been used in pouring of concrete.

Removal of the tower adds considerably to appearance of the $4,000,000 temple, exterior work on which has been practically completed.

Resolution adopted by the city council governing sale and use of fireworks July 4 provides that sale be restricted to July 3 and 4, and setting off of the fireworks confined to July 4. The character of fireworks which may be sold bars use of dynamite torpedoes, dynamite caps, all crackers and cannon crackers over 2 inches in length, skyrockets, balloons, cartridges and blank cartridges of any size.

Sale of fireworks in rented property is prohibited unless consent of the owner is obtained. The use of fireworks is prohibited on King street and Washington street, and on Duke street between Washington and Columbus streets, this being the square in which the Alexandria Hospital is located.

Conference between members of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce and the State highway commission which was to have been held today, relative to proposed widening of the Richmond-Washington highway between Alexandria and Fredericksburg, has been postponed indefinitely, according to Dan S. Hollenga, business manager of the chamber of commerce. A delegation of more than 50 members of the trade body had planned to make the trip in automobiles.

Ambulance fund committee of the Alexandria Fire Department will be given a banquet at 7 o'clock this evening in the George Mason Hotel, 35 persons being expected to attend. A meeting of the executive committee of the ambulance fund was held last night at the home of Mrs. J. W. Travers, 408 Prince street, when the finances were gone over and final reports of the committee received. It is understood the required amount of $3,000 was oversubscribed.

Marlow Encampment, Odd Fellows, has elected these officers: James A. Gore, chief patriarch; J. W. Turner, senior warden; N. R. Davis, junior warden; George W. Bontz, treasurer; L. T. Webster, recording scribe; John A. Martin, financial secretary. Newly-elected officers will be installed the fourth Monday in July.

Announcement has been made that on July 1, authority will be conferred on Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of public buildings and public parks, of Washington, to recruit twelve men to police Mount Vernon boulevard. Capt. R. C. Montgomery, of the Washington Park Police, will, it is expected, direct activities of the force.

L. H. Dudley, vice president and cashier of the Alexandria National Bank, and Judge Harry Thomas, of Arlington County, yesterday qualified as executors of the estate of the late E. C. Cockrell, of Orkney Springs. The estate is valued at approximately $200,000.

Workmen excavating on the Mount Vernon boulevard at the southwest corner of Washington and King streets yesterday unearthed an old forgotten well 40 feet deep, which had been covered over for many years. It is now being filled with earth.

Frank Murray, 46 years old, employed in the city postoffice as a clerk, was taken before United States Commissioner John Barton Phillips yesterday and held for action of the United States court. Charges were filed by A. M. Simpson, postoffice inspector, that Murray "opened and destroyed a certain letter," postmarked Johnstown, Pa., dated June 22, 1931, the letter bearing the return address of J. R. Kennedy, of Johnstown, Pa. Murray gave bond of $500 for appearance at the next term of court.

Walter Gardner, who was indicted by a grand jury in Corporation Court here on a charge of perjury in connection with a divorce suit, and arrested in New Smyrna, Fla., has been released on habeas corpus proceedings, according to word received yesterday by Police Capt. W. W. Campbell. Gardner is reported to have stated he will come to Alexandria at once to face the charge.

Mrs. Martha Fisher Francis, widow of George W. Francis, a former resident of Alexandria, died Tuesday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Martha Francis McKnew, 1603 Harden street, Silver Spring, Md. Funeral service will be at the late residence, and burial will be in Bethel Cemetery, Alexandria, this afternoon.

Funeral service for Mrs. Frank Merriman, who died Monday night, will be at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Carroll D. Moore, 517 North Columbus street, by the Rev. Dr. William J. Morton, rector of Christ Episcopal Church. Interment will be in Bethel Cemetery.

Virginia Held Ripe For City Planning

Convention Learns Reason State Enjoys Unusual Advantage.

Rochester, N. Y., June 24 (A.P.).—George Y. Webster, of River View, Va., in an address prepared for delivery today at the twenty-third annual national conference on city planning, said that nowhere in this country is there a better chance for effective municipal planning and zoning than in Virginia.

"The results of the lack of planning," Mr. Webster said, "have not become so apparent in Virginia as in some other localities because of the large areas in the State in which the population is small. Planning is either constructive or corrective. In most areas the planning is corrective because of the development in building. In Virginia, however, there is a great opportunity for constructive planning, which is the ideal planning."

Mr. Webster predicted that Virginia "will for the next generation be known as the historic playground of the United States."

LEE VETERANS MEET IN CHARLOTTESVILLE

150 Confederates Are Told Time Has Proven Their Cause Was Just.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., June 24.—One hundred and fifty Confederate veterans of the Civil War gathered here to attend their forty-fourth grand camp reunion were told today by Dr. Paul B. Barringer, former chairman of the faculty of the University of Virginia, that their cause, as tested by time, in the opinion of liberal and cultural America today recorded as just.

"Within less than two decades after the Civil War many liberal-minded men in the North began to see that the North had been misled—about the South—and the righteousness of the Northern cause, and from that day to this the pestilential propaganda of early Puritanism has been passing into the discard," the speaker said.

"Today the vast majority of liberal, thinking people of this Union recognize that under the circumstances there was nothing else that the South could have done except fight and that by so doing they called attention to and preserved fundamentals of government to which we must revert ultimately or perish.

War Held Inevitable.

"The Civil War was not your fault, it was inevitable," said Dr. Barringer, a native of North Carolina, who became chairman of the faculty at the University of Virginia in 1866, while a member of the medical faculty.

"A new-born theocracy in the wilderness rushed ahead of old Europe in printed propaganda. The theocracy has the hatreds of both sect and state and these went into print before the new-found art of printing was dreamed of in Virginia. The profound impress that early New England made on American life was not made by the spoken word, but by the poisoned page. This fermenting and fostering propaganda brought on the war.

"The one outstanding and unchallenged historical fact of that prolonged struggle was the high courage and character of the Southern soldier and Americans, now free from prejudice, are proud of him. His valor is today America's accepted heritage. To honor him they have idealized his leaders. With Davis and Lee in Statuary Hall and Jackson's name on every tongue, times have indeed changed."

Jefferson's Home Visited.

Mrs. Charles E. Bolling, of Richmond, State president of the Virginia Division, Daughters of the Confederacy, is attending the reunion. This organization now has 136 active chapters in Virginia, with a total membership of 9,473. The Richmond chapter is the largest, with an enrollment of 600.

No business sessions of the Grand Camp were held today. At 11 o'clock veterans, sons and official ladies went to the Armory to hear addresses by R. Gray Williams, of Winchester, and Dr. Barringer, of this city.

After dinner at the Monticello Hotel, the city's guests were taken on a sight-seeing trip to Monticello, home of Jefferson, and to Ash Lawn, for 26 years the residence of James Monroe.

Tonight an instrumental and vocal concert was given in Lee Park, in the center of which stands the equestrian statue of the Confederate chieftain, Gen. Robert E. Lee. Selections were played by the Charlottesville Municipal Band, which attended the recent Confederate reunion in Montgomery, Ala., as official representative of Virginia veterans. Other bands participating in the concert were from Harrisonburg and Orange.

Huge Chorus Revives Songs.

An interesting feature of the concert was the signing of wartime songs by a chorus of 500 voices, selected from church choirs and civic clubs. The numbers included "Suwanee River," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Maryland, My Maryland," "Carry Me Back to Ole Virginny," "The Bonnie Blue Flag" and "Dixie." The day's entertainment ended with a ball at the city armory, starting at 10 o'clock.

The reunion will close tomorrow. At the final business session of the grand camp, at 9 o'clock in the morning, officers will be elected and place selected for the next meeting.

Final business meeting of the Sons will take place at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. Following reports from officers and committees, division and brigade commanders will be elected.

Grand parade of the Reunion will be at 11 o'clock, with veterans and sons assembling at 10:30 on Courthouse Square, adjoining Jackson Park.

West Virginia District Rotary Heads to Meet

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., June 24.—Robert H. Wilson, of this city, twenty-fourth district Rotary governor, today issued a call for a district assembly of club officers, committee chairmen and other club leaders August 7 and 8 at Spencer.

Plans for the coming year will be discussed. There are now 37 clubs in the district, which embraces all of West Virginia.

DANCE MEN FREED IN PRINCE GEORGES

Case Against Pair Fails to Test Permit Law; Evidence Lacking.

The Prince Georges County law forbidding the holding of more than one dance a week without a permit from the county commissioners failed to be tested yesterday when cases against two men were dismissed.

The two men were Ernest Schumaker and Robert Bladen, who had been arrested while acting as managers of a dance at Berwyn, Md., Schumaker was arrested on June 18 and Bladen on June 20. Police claim that they, with another man, had formed a partnership to evade the law by having the three dances a week ostensibly given by a different man.

Bladen was freed because the justice of the peace issuing the warrant against him had failed to sign it. Schumaker was charged with disorderly conduct, and the case against him was dismissed for lack of evidence. Testimony of policemen showed that he was only standing in the door of the hall when the raid was made.

Judge J. Chew Sheriff held that no collusion between the two men had been shown, and it was the opinion of courtroom attaches that it would have to be shown the money from the dances went into a common treasury before a conviction could be obtained.

The county law, passed in 1929, has not actually been invoked, as both Bladen and Schumaker were charged with disorderly conduct. Strict enforcement of the law would strike at every roadhouse in the county, as nearly all of them feature dancing as a nightly event. A number of other dance halls would also be affected. The law provides that the commissioners may issue a permit if a proportion of nearby residents approve of the dances.

Two youths, escaped inmates of the National Training School for Boys, were sentenced to serve two years each in the Maryland House of Correction on charges of unauthorized use of an auto. They were Lawrence Posey and Clyde Hersman.

According to police the pair escaped from the Reform School, which is in the District, and stole a car in Lanham. They were captured in Cumberland, however, and brought back to the county by State Policeman C. W. Cubbage.

Robert W. Swisher, who gave an address on Kenyon street northwest, near Thirteenth street, was fined $200 on a liquor charge. He was arrested on the Baltimore boulevard, near Beltsville, while driving a car containing eighteen cases of alleged whisky.

Lola Giles, of Duckettsville, was brought into court on a warrant charging her with being an incorrigible minor. She was released, however, when Judge Sheriff learned that she was 22 years old, and therefore no minor.

A fine of $100 against Mrs. Erva Brown, of Suitland, was appealed, and the woman was released on bond of $500 pending trial of the appeal. She was arrested by county policemen during a raid last Saturday. William Jenkins, also arrested in a raid on his home near Oxon Hill, was fined $50 for possession of a case of liquor.

Isidore Sirota, accused of reckless driving and failing to give the right of way to a fire engine, was found guilty and fined $5 on the former and $1 on the latter charge. Sirota, who lives in New York City, was accused of running into the Branchville Volunteer Fire Department's engine near Beltsville Tuesday afternoon. Three firemen, Sirota, and his companion were slightly injured.

Anthony Sesso, of Washington, who was charged with exceeding 60 miles an hour on the Baltimore boulevard, forfeited $1 rather than face trial.

Henry Kreitzer, of Bowie, sentenced to three years in the penitentiary for the fatal shooting of Melvin N. Ryon, was among the 43 prisoners who have been paroled by Gov. Albert C. Ritchie. Kreitzer has four months of his term to serve.

Kreitzer claimed that the shooting of Ryon, a brother of J. Wilson Ryon, was accidental. The men were in a house near Bowie at the time of the shooting, and it is said that Ryon told Kreitzer he did not have the nerve to shoot. Kreitzer claimed the shot was fired accidentally.

Another man sentenced from Prince Georges County, Luther I. Kirk, was also paroled. He had been serving an 18-month term for stealing a number of articles to pay for a radio. In his announcement of the pardons, which were made on the recommendation of Ambrose J. Kennedy, parole officer, Gov. Ritchie said that Kirk's family were in need of support. Kirk has served all but one month of his term.

Noble F. Rushe, chief of the Hyattsville Volunteer Fire Department and candidate for president of the State Firemen's Association, yesterday announced that he would favor a pension for veteran volunteer firemen if he is elected to the State post. It has been suggested that the insurance companies might be taxed to provide a fund to pay such pensions.

The president of the State volunteer firemen's group will be elected at the convention at Ocean City, Md., next month. Mr. Rushe has been unanimously indorsed for the post by the Prince Georges County association. He will be opposed by George Colburn, fire chief of Princess Anne, on the Eastern Shore. The present president of the association, L. Wentz, will not be a candidate for reelection.

Louis L. Dyer, a prisoner in the Maryland House of Correction, at Jessups, Md., is named defendant in a suit for limited divorce filed yesterday by his wife, Annabelle M. Dyer, who asks alimony and counsel fees.

Dyer was sentenced by the circuit court last year to serve a year on a nonsupport charge filed by his wife. Mrs. Dyer, who gives her address as Berwyn, is represented by Attorney S. Marvin Peach.

The woman's petition states that she and Dyer were married in 1918 and have one child, Anna Louise, 13 years old. She asks the court to award her the custody of the child. In 1930, she says, Dyer deserted her and has not contributed to her support since.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

ELMER TWITCHELL ON SUSPENDING THOSE WAR DEBTS.

DEAR PRESIDENT HOOVER:

This is just a note to congratulate you on your decision to let Germany forget her war debts for a year, even though I personally have a hunch it will be many years before she will want to start remembering them. Germany was in no position to pay us anything this year, anyhow, and in beating her to the announcement I think you displayed good knowledge of psychological effects.

• • • •

These war debts are too deep for me, I admit, and the figures are just telephone numbers so far as I am concerned. The nation that is owed that much money is just as blue as the nation that owes it, and I figure it has a bad effect on people to go on worrying over any such vast sums. It seems to me that the people of the allied countries will get as much relief from a moratorium on thinking about the debts as moratorium on paying them, so the result should be beneficial all around.

• • • •

This matter of what Germany owes us has upset me for years. Every morning at the breakfast table I would open my paper and see a table of figures showing how many billion dollars we had coming and how many years it would take us to get it, even with good luck. There always seemed to be a note of uncertainty in these statements, and the idea of being cheated out of so much money always ruined my day.

• • • •

NOW that the American people know that we won't get any payments for a year at least it is a big load off their minds.

I see by the papers that this move will cost the United States $245,000,000 for the year, but in a country where even barbers talk in millions and where a sum like that wouldn't even be considered Christmas savings club money by Amos 'n' Andy, Rudy Vallee or any good radio or moving-picture star, it doesn't bring any audible groans. We have sock merchants here who get that much money in income tax refunds every year.

• • • •

There is a lot of talk about the sanctity of debts, but I figure if Germany never pays anybody a nickel it will be a good thing for the world. It will, in fact, be a wonderful lesson to all, because when another war is threatened it will flop at once because nobody will be able to take a war to bank and get a loan on it.

• • • •

The day when a nation can even put up a couple of major battles as collateral for 30 cents in cash will be over just as soon as it is generally realized that war debts are uncollectible. It is all very well to talk of cutting out armies and navies, but war will never be impossible until we cut out lending money on them. Once a nation knows it will have to wage a war, using matches for money, peace will be guaranteed.

• • • •

The people now know that all the nations were cookoo when they went into the World War, and that thinking of it only makes them nuttier. So congratulating you again and hoping your hair shirts are gradually going to pieces on you, I am,

Yours respectfully,
ELMER TWITCHELL.

THE NEW HINDENBURG LINE.

IN complying with President von Hindenburg's plea for a suspension of debt payments, the Allies will, in a manner of speaking, be halting in front of the Hindenburg dotted line.

SONG OF COMMANDER WILKINS.

With her engines dead and her batteries weak
Her oil tanks foul and her hull a-leak
We are not downcast and we feel we'll win—
She's a darned good sub for the shape she's in!

MR. EARL CARROLL, advertising for good-looking, well-mannered young men for his box-offices, announces that he will put charm into those departments of the theater business. The only question is whether the theatergoing public could stand the shock of contact with a box-office attendant who showed no symptoms of being in the last stages of the rabies.

SLAYER OF OFFICERS GIVEN ADDED TERM

Garland Smith, Convicted at Boydton, Is Sentenced to 40 Years.

Boydton, Va., June 24 (A.P.).—Garland Smith, convicted of the murder of Deputy Sheriff Bernard A. Puryear and Chief of Police Mack Tuck, of Clarksville, must serve 40 years in prison under an order entered today by Judge Needham S. Turnbull, Jr., following his third trial which ended late Saturday night.

Judge Turnbull's order provides that "the sentence herein imposed is to commence at the expiration of the sentence of 20 years imposed heretofore upon the said Garland Smith by this court at its August term, 1930."

Smith was given a sentence of death on the Puryear indictment in February 1930. In September 1930, while the Supreme Court was considering the appeal for this verdict, Smith was tried on the Tuck indictment and a Charlotte County jury gave him 20 years. Last week he was retried on the Puryear indictment at the direction of the Supreme Court, and a Greenville County jury gave him 20 years.

The two sentences would have run concurrently had not the court decided that they should run consecutively.

CLIFTON FORGE SET FOR LEGION MEETING

Annual State Convention of Veterans to Be Held August 23-26.

Clifton Forge, Va., June 24 (A.P.).—The executive committee of the Virginia department of the American Legion is completing arrangements for the annual state convention of the department to be held here August 23-26.

The housing problem was one of the most important matters disposed of. A committee canvassing the city has reported that sufficient rooms have been secured to take care of all the delegates expected.

Arrangements have been made to house the "official family" of the legion, auxiliary, and "40 et 8" in the hotel. Delegates and other visitors will be placed in desirable accommodations.

A restaurant committee has worked out the problem of feeding the convention in an organized way. Restaurant proprietors have agreed to furnish meals at nominal cost, while women's organizations of various churches also will serve during convention week.

The program is being worked out by a committee headed by Frank H. Morris. Organizations from three States are expected to attend. Features will include floats, exhibits, bands, drum and bugle corps and entries from the Red Cross, Ladies Auxiliary, business men and others. Garland Stanley is general convention chairman.

MONTGOMERY ROAD ROUTE IS INDORSED

Woodside Park Group Urges Using Forest Glen Line to Brookeville Pike.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Copies of two resolutions adopted by the Woodside Park Property Owners Association, indorsing use of the new concrete road from Forest Glen through Linden and Montgomery Hills to the Brookeville Pike as part of the proposed Rockville-Takoma Park Highway, and the extension of Sixteenth street to Brookeville Pike, have been sent to the Montgomery County Commissioners, the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission and other civic bodies of the affected area.

The first resolution points out that the use of the Linden road as part of the proposed road to connect Takoma Park and Rockville via Forest Glen and Kensington would be of immeasurable benefit to the residents of Woodside Park, North Woodside, Montgomery Hills and Linden, and also would provide the most direct route.

The second resolution declares it is understood, on responsible authority, that the right-of-way for the extension of Sixteenth street through Woodside Park and for some distance beyond can be acquired by dedication, or for a small cost, and that a definite decision as to the route of Sixteenth street, after leaving the Brookeville Pike, will hasten the development of a section which must wait until the route is established, and asks that the commissioners continue the survey for the street through Woodside Park as far as the proposed Sligo Parkway, and that the right-of-way from the District line to Sligo Parkway be acquired as soon as possible by condemnation, dedication or otherwise.

Members of the Maryland State Roads Commission and the board of county commissioners yesterday made a tour of the sites of the proposed projects for the 1931 building program and of several proposed grade-crossing eliminations.

Among the points visited were Rockville, where the main State highway passing through Montgomery County from western Maryland to Washington, to be widened in front of the new Montgomery County Courthouse; the grade crossing elimination at Gaithersburg, and the proposed site of the Rockville grade-crossing elimination.

The party also visited the Woodfield gap on the Damascus-Woodfield-Laytonsville road, and the proposed extension of Massachsetts avenue into Montgomery County to the River road and to Conduit road. Rockville pike from the District Line to Rockville was inspected with a view to determining certain widening projects which are under consideration. The extension of the East-West highway to Takoma Park toward Hyattsville, the Maryland highway to extend to Fern street underpass to Sligo avenue and the Carroll avenue bridge near the Seventh-Day Adventist Sanitarium also was inspected.

The new roads in the county are to be built from the proceeds of bond issues and the road commissioners are primarily interested in the grade-crossing projects as the county commissioners have the primary responsibility for the road construction program.

Included in the party were Chairman G. Clinton Uhl, Maj. E. Brooke Lee, members of the roads commission; Maj. Harry D. Williar, chief engineer of the road commission; the board of county commissioners, and Harry B. Shaw, county engineer.

A reception in honor of the Rev. J. E. James, new pastor of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church, Gaithersburg, was held at the church Sunday school room Tuesday night. Mrs. W. Lawson King, who represented the Ladies Aid Society, presided at the meeting and introduced the heads of the various church societies to the new pastor.

The program was opened with a pipe organ solo by Hazel Jacobs and a duet by Jean Phebus and Betty Walker. The following representatives of the various church organizations made addresses of welcome to the pastor: William G. Davis, board of stewards; Miss Elizabeth Virts, president of the Epworth League; Mrs. Ray K. Wachter, Missionary Society; Norman B. Jacobs, Sunday school, and Mrs. King for the Ladies Aid Society.

Solos were given by Mrs. Lycurgus Griffith, jr., the Rev. Fred Barnes, Betty Walker, piano solos by Dorothy Phebus and readings by Mrs. Wachter. A large basket of flowers was presented to the new pastor.

J. H. Fowler, of Chevy Chase, reported to police of the Bethesda substation yesterday that plumbing tools valued at $30 had been stolen from a tool shed in the rear of his property at 3510 Grove street, Chevy Chase.

Mrs. Emma L. Shorter yesterday filed suit for absolute divorce from Bernard Shorter, alleging desertion. The couple was married in Baltimore January 28, 1920, and has no children. The suit was filed in Rockville and asks absolute divorce and alimony.

Tuesday's rainstorm was a boon for the corn crop, it was reported yesterday by Albert A. Ady, assistant farm agent for Montgomery County, who is acting farm agent in the absence of O. W. Anderson, who is in Europe. The corn crop was withering fast, Mr. Ady said, but was saved by the timely rain.

Wheat did not fare so well, the heavy rain knocking down the stalks, but the wheat price is so low that the aid to corn will overbalance any wheat loss, Mr. Ady said. Practically all other crops were aided by the rain which came at the end of a dry spell which had caused the farmers to cast worried glances to the sky in remembrance of last year's drought. Pasture lands and streams were greatly benefited.

Rural Mail-Box Rule Protested

Walker Enters Complaint Against Order With Goldsborough.

Special to The Washington Post.

Chestertown, Md., June 24.—W. Irving Walker, former member of the Maryland House of Delegates from Queen Annes County and known as the father of the rural free delivery mail service in Maryland, today called on Representative T. Alan Goldsborough, of the First Maryland District, to protest to the Postoffice Department against a recent ruling which would require mail boxes to be placed on the right side of rural routes.

According to an announcement made here by local postal officials "this action has been taken for the protection of mail carriers and motorists traveling the roads. By pulling to the left side, the carrier is violating the law and making himself responsible for any accident that may occur and endangering following, or approaching motorists."

Local postmasters have been asked by the department to urge patrons of rural routes to conform to these regulations as soon as possible so as to avoid suspension of mail service until the requirements are met.
